

Propose To Remodel Auditorium In Town Hall Building

Plans to make improvements to the Newmarket town hall auditorium were put forward at a meeting of the town council on Monday night. Councillor J. O. Dales, chairman of the property committee, said the committee was in favor of lowering the ceiling and using acoustic wall board. The mayor and Councillor Charles Boyd suggested that the plans go further to completely modernize the auditorium.

Mr. Dales said he had obtained a price on lowering the ceiling and on putting in acoustic walls and ceiling. A processed type of hard wall board would also be put on the lower part of the walls, four feet up from the floor.

"I think the work should be done," said Mr. Dales. "We receive $1,200 a year from the magistrate's court for the use of the auditorium. Various clubs and organizations use the auditorium. In the production of shows on the stage, it has been found that sound vibrations are bad. The acoustic walls and ceiling would overcome that, and in its present condition, the auditorium is not worth painting," he said.

"Why not get a price on a complete remodelling of the auditorium," said Mayor Vale.

"I think we should go beyond the $3,800 estimated price and make a complete job of it so we can have a modern auditorium," said Councillor Charles Boyd.

Mr. Dales said the false ceiling will be suspended by wooden hangers. The committee has a price on the work but it would call for tenders, he said.

NO INDUSTRIES

Answering an inquiry by Councillor Charles VanZant, Councillor Charles Boyd, chairman of Newmarket council's industrial committee said "there is nothing concrete about new industries coming to town". He said several approaches were made in the last month by industries interested in Newmarket as a location but nothing came of them. He said that the clerk is now preparing a prospectus for the town.

OPPOSE ASSESSMENT

Ratepayers are seeking a reduction in assessment of farm lands in Newmarket, in that part of town which has been annexed from Whitchurch township, adjacent to Yonge St. highway. The Academy is headed by Eric Mundinger, an energetic German-Canadian. Several from Newmarket have studied with the Academy in Toronto.

SAYS TROUBLE AT FAIRY LAKE CAME AFTER DAM BUILT

Interest in Fairy Lake and a possible clean-up of the area near the Water St. dam has been stirred up recently to the extent that one citizen offered $500 to a clean-up program. It has been the opinion of some citizens that a real place to swim could be made at the pond if it were cleaned up.

A former Newmarket citizen, now living in Toronto read an Era and Express story about the pond and wrote the following this week:

"As for Fairy Lake, it was ruined the day they built the new dam. It is definitely lower than the former one. The old one was built of heavy boards. The boards were nailed to posts that were several feet apart and the boards were tight together.

"When the water became too high for the surrounding land, a row of boards was taken off and returned when the level of the next row was reached.

"There was and may yet be a summer house on an island in the pond with a cute little bridge joining it to the old property of the late Tom Brunton. The Schmidts kept it in apple pie order. It certainly was attractive to look at."

JOHN A. MEYER

JOHN E. STRUTHERS

The editorship of the Era and Express has been taken by John E. Struthers who has been news editor for the paper. John Meyer, managing editor for eight years, since 1944, is going to Ottawa where he will be working on the publication of another weekly newspaper.

John A. Meyer Leaves Era And Express J. Struthers New Editor

A change in management at the Newmarket Era and Express last week promoted John E. Struthers, formerly news editor, to managing editor. John A. Meyer who has been managing editor since 1944 leaves to go to Ottawa where he will be engaged in new work in the newspaper business.

Mr. Meyer came to the Era and Express eight years ago. Previously had been with the Toronto Daily Star and before that, the Montreal Herald. He was born and educated in Toronto. He attended Queen's University.

While he was managing editor, the Era won several newspaper awards. Most of the awards were won for the paper's editorial page. For several years, trophies were taken by the Era and Express both in the national field and in the Ontario-Quebec division of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association. Three trophies were won this year.

Mr. Struthers has been with the Era and Express since 1947. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Struthers, Port Dover, Ontario. He was born in Port Dover, is a graduate of Pickering College where he attended for three years. ## Greenbank Farm Scene Of Hunt

On Saturday, October 4, at "Greenbank Farm", the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Burton, will be the scene of Toronto and North York Hunt meet at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. Greenbank is on the west side of the 7th concession, a half mile south of the King-Nobleton sideroad.

This countryside is very attractive and the best spot for spectators to see the hunters and dogs is when they draw away in the open field east of the barns on the farm at 11 a.m. and 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Sometimes they are visible from the King sideroad hills, north of the 7th line. On Wednesday, Oct. 8, the hunt will meet at Vandon at 2 o'clock, afternoon.

Some young people of the Aurora Pony club are following hunts enthusiastically. Maureen Wellesley, Mary McBride, Barbara Specht and Bill Pate are on hand when the hunts are not too far away. Barbara rides Rocky, a Palomino horse that has surprised those of the Toronto and N. Y. club with his keenness for the jumps. Barbara will ride him bareback for exercise about Windy Ridge farm, and Rocky, clears every obstacle in sight.

PREMIER FROST TO VISIT KING TWP., FOLLOW OLD TRAILS

Premier Leslie Frost has a date with Reeve Elton Armstrong, King township, and will visit the township in the near future. Mr. Frost is anxious to follow the old Humber River trails which the Indians and the first white settlers used to take furs and hides to and from the Lake Simcoe York Trading post.

Reeve Armstrong says there are three trails one could follow, one of these on the west side of the township, and another from Lasky to Kinghorn and King to Eaton Hall Lake. The portages from stream to stream were the most difficult part of the journey. The Ridges forms the watershed for water flowing to Lake Simcoe and on to Georgian Bay, and those flowing south through the branches of the Humber River to Lake Ontario.

One likely route the premier and reeve may follow would be course from Kinghorn and King north. Part of the journey can be made on foot, so it is likely that these gentlemen will take a full day to make the journey.

FAMILY LOSE HOME AS TRAILER BURNED SATURDAY NIGHT

A flash fire started by an oil space heater caused extensive damage to the trailer home of Mr. and Mrs. John Risenborough, King City, last Saturday night. Ralph Hunter, a neighbor, was the first to spot the flames and smoke pouring from the vehicle. Using a garden hose which was attached to the town water supply at the time, he brought the blaze under control. Mrs. Cecil Walker telephoned fire chief George Brown who used a chemical extinguisher.

The roofing and some of the siding of the trailer had to be ripped apart to apply the extinguisher. The wall where the stove stood was badly burned and the ceiling was ready to fall apart. Clothing and furniture were scorched and ruined by oil fumes and water. The vehicle and contents are insured but there was no coverage on personal effects.

Mrs. Risenborough, who is a King telephone operator, was on duty at the time and Mr. Risenborough was in Aurora with the children, John, age 10, and Anne, 8. Arriving on the scene about 15 minutes afterward, Mr. Risenborough unlocked the trailer door and clothing and bedding were removed.

The family stayed with their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Daley at Aurora, and are now seeking a place to live.

They set up a trailer home last November because it was impossible to find other lodgings or a home in the village. Mrs. Risenborough's position with the telephone made it necessary for them to live in King City. They came from England about two years ago and while accommodation might be forthcoming it would mean the family would have to be separated unless rooms can be found.

See Mill Saved On Tax Rate By Insurance Change

A saving of one mill on the tax rate through a reorganization in municipal insurance is the hope of the finance committee of the town council. For a large part of the town's insurance, Mayor Vale proposed at Monday night council meeting that it be taken from the company which has been carrying it for some time.

The mayor and finance committee recommended that another company take the insurance. The company he mentioned had presented a plan whereby severals of thousands of dollars could be saved in a year.

The saving in liability insurance alone would amount to $3,400 a year according to the figures read by the mayor.

"If the present insurance were kept on, the total amount spent by the town between October 1952 and October 1953 would be from $9,200 to $9,500," the mayor told council. "That is over two mills," he said.

A comprehensive form of liability insurance at present carried by the town costs $5,055 a year. A comprehensive plan offered by the new company would cost $1,657 according to the mayor. "It just seems too good to turn down," the mayor said.

He said the finance committee had also discovered a considerable saving could be made in workmen's compensation. An example he mentioned was in compensation for the firemen. Now paying $219 for certain compensation, the town could have the same for $81, he said.

"There is too great a prospective saving for the finance committee to pass up this opportunity for a change," he said. "We have been told in the past that the high liability losses in Newmarket causes high rates. But we are told by the new company that this does not affect rates, only if losses are high in the group of policy holders the company is dealing with," Mr. Vale said.

The mayor said that "no scientific system" had been applied in taking on town insurance in the past. "It has just been done around the council table," he said. "Whenever a building needs insurance or other needs arise (Page 5, Col. 4)

Optimists' Haywood Ranch Gang To Give Show At Hosp., Homes

EARL HAYWOOD

The Newmarket Optimist club is presenting Earl Haywood and his Serenade Ranch Gang, a western musical group which is well known as a recording band.

The Haywood gang has a regular radio program every Saturday night on the Wingham station.

On Friday, Oct. 10, the "westerners" will visit the home for the aged on Yonge St., York County hospital and Warrendale on Millard Ave. to provide a short program of entertainment.

At the arena Oct. 10, the Haywood Ranch Gang will provide an hour and a half program, starting at eight o'clock. After that there will be three hours of dancing. Proceeds from the event for the Optimist club will go towards boys' work.

Included in Earl Haywood's gang is an ace fiddler who won a Canadian championship a month ago for his fiddling art.

Plan To Continue With Night Class Courses To Meet At School

Night classes will be continued again this year. Last year the Era and Express published questionnaires to find out how many persons wanted to take classes in woodworking, carpentry, crafts or any other lines and there was a heavy response.

After the questionnaires were received, groups met and planned classes according to their interests. Instructors were found locally and successful series of classes in carpentry, crafts, brick laying, house building and sewing were carried on during the winter months.

It has been requested that an application form be published again this year to find out what response there would be for night classes. A meeting of persons interested in night classes will be held at the high school auditorium next Tuesday night, Oct. 7.

Those interested in night classes are asked to fill in the form below and either take it to the meeting Tuesday night or, if you cannot attend, send it to "Night Classes" in care of the Era and Express.

M. L. Newroth, Sharon, has agreed to be chairman of the meeting on Tuesday night. Tentative plans are to elect a Night Classes committee. The committee may look into further possibilities of instruction and investigate possibilities of receiving grants from the department of education to sponsor some night class work instruction or facilities.

In filling out the form below, it is requested that the first choice of subjects or courses you are interested in be listed, also the second choice, your name, address and phone number.

Rt. Rev. Beverley, Lord Bishop Officially Opens Warrendale

Warrendale, a specialized residential centre for adolescent girls, was officially opened in a service of dedication on Wednesday, Oct. 1. Conducting the service was the Lord Bishop of Toronto, the Right Reverend A. R. Beverley, M.A., D.D. He was assisted by Rev. J. T. Rhodes, B.A., L.Th., rector of St. Paul's Anglican church. Mrs. H. Arnold Ward outlined the history of the organization.

As president of the board of St. Faith's lodge which operates the institution, Mrs. Ward welcomed the representative gathering to Warrendale. She said that the house had been named in memory of Mrs. H. D. Warren, a founder of St. Faith's and its president for over 30 years. Warrendale is the residence of the late Aubrey Davis.

"We are pleased our search for a suitable property led us to the town of Newmarket," continued Mrs. Ward. "For as a board and as a staff we believe there are many advantages in a community of this size that are lacking in a metropolitan centre. We are looking forward to a very friendly relationship with the citizens of Newmarket and especially with those with whom the girls have direct contact. Warrendale is home to the girls during their stay, and as such we want them to bring their friends home for after-school activities and special parties.

"As time goes on and Warrendale and the people of Newmarket get to know each other better, we trust Newmarket will be as proud of Warrendale as we are and will be as eager as the board that it give the best possible care to its girls.

"We have no desire to remove the girls entirely from the community and to isolate them from everyday goings on. Our staff full credit for success; much will never be able to take the due to those people in the town who have accepted the girls as friends and who have helped them in any number of ways."

Girls between the ages of 12 and 15 within the greater Toronto area will be admitted to Warrendale. They are recommended by recognized social agencies for a period of three months to two years. The accommodation is limited to 15 girls at any one time.

Warrendale's plan of service is to help unhappy and disturbed girls who have been unsettled in their own homes or in foster homes to adjust to normal living experiences. It provides a group setting for these adolescent girls for a comparatively short period of time.

Pages from the Editor's Notebook

This is the last page of the editor's notebook, by this editor anyway. It is difficult to write because it means saying goodbye to the many grand friends we have had in our work here. A newspaper is the sum of many hands. The Era and Express has been particularly fortunate in its friends and we'll always be grateful for that friendship.

We'll miss the close association between writer and reader which is so much a part of a small town paper. That intimacy has a tempering effect upon the wilder flights of the writer's imagination. It is one thing to draw bead upon the mayor from the security of the editor's chair. It is another thing to meet him ten minutes later on the street and hear his reasons for the faults we have just criticized.

Mayor Vale is very much one of those we will miss. We have disagreed often and there is no reason for him to look kindly upon us, yet Mr. Vale has always been gracious in his relations with the press and often co-operative beyond the call of office. Perhaps it's his father's influence. Mr. Vale Sr. reads the paper through and through and when he spots a typographical error or takes issue with the use of a word, he circles the offender and sends the clipping to us. We've had some rare discussions with him over morning coffee as a result but we have also noticed that whenever the going was rough, Mr. Vale had always a word of encouragement.

There are many like Mr. Vale. They were our severest critics; yet they never failed to encourage and hearten with their support. We'll not forget their kindness.

The paper has been particularly blessed in its contributors. We can never pay adequate tribute to the correspondents. There were times when their patience was strained, when their news was reduced or omitted because of difficulties of finding space to put everything in. The communities they serve are fortunate.

Over the years, there have been many who have contributed weekly columns. The Era and Express has a large number of columns for its size. These contributors have had the widest leeway in the expression of their opinions. It was no rare circumstance to find one opinion on the editorial page, the opposite in a column, and a second columnist damping the other two.

We've tried to encourage this variety of opinion and we think it's been to the advantage of the paper and the readers. We know it's been to our personal advantage because it has brought us in touch with many friends we'd not otherwise have.

The readers of a newspaper see the finished product; few readers have any conception of the amount of work required to produce that printed page. Let us assure all those who have teased us about having nothing to do from Friday to Wednesday that there is no truth in it. The work of producing next week's paper begins as soon as the current issue is on the press.

The Era and Express used to be printed on a press which had grown so old in service that there were times when the final printing run was completed with a welder standing by to repair the broken parts. There are a good many employees of the Era and Express who were with us then and remain with us now when our equipment is so vastly improved.

It's a matter of pride that this should be so. We have never worked before with such friendly co-operation and loyalty. They have never been wanting in times of stress. To them all, we say thank you for making our time here so pleasant.

Our working life has been with words. We have never found words inadequate before. And now, in saying goodbye, we find that there are no words to express the loss we'll feel nor the pleasure we've had in our time here. It's been a good time; we'll always treasure the memory of it.

From the Files of 25 and 50 Years Ago

SEPT. 30, 1927
The residence of Mrs. Bella Elvidge on Prospect Ave. has been bought by Mr. Bernard McHale. There was quite a crowd at the sale of furniture on Thursday evening of last week and the sale was very satisfactory. Auctioneer Smith had a number of good jokes.

Mr. E. S. Cane has sold his summer cottage known as "Portsmouth" on the Lake Shore road at Orchard Beach to Dr. McClintock of Uxbridge. Mr. W. N. Collins is now wiring it ready for use next season.

A freight car on the York radial jumped the track at the Park Ave. crossing on Monday noon. The men were about an hour getting it on again.

Mr. Hilton Hitchen of Bradford, about 20 years of age, was run over by a load of oats, one wheel passing across his chest. He was brought to York County hospital, Newmarket, where he remained a few days and is now recovering at his home. It is expected that the new hospital will be ready for occupation the first or second week in October.

The Farmers' Co-Operative Association is erecting a large warehouse at the rear of the store on Main St., 28 by 42 feet, two stories and a basement, which will give opportunity to buy in carload lots and distribute to their patrons at the very lowest cost.

Work has commenced on the grounds and everything is ready to start on the foundation.

OCTOBER 3, 1902
The president of the Metropolitan Ry. assured this week that the first new car would be put into requisition on Saturday to bring up a party from Toronto to attend the Davis demonstration. After that it will continue in service.

While operating a typesetting machine in the Express office on Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Percy had the index finger on his left hand badly cut.

Owing to the limited supply of milk delivered at Newmarket Cheese Factory last month, the directors have concluded to close the factory on Monday for the present.

Mr. Albert Thompson's new house is brick-clad. The masons are finishing the brick-cladding on Mr. R. Little's residence. The carpenters are working on the roof at the editor's residence.

On Wednesday evening of last week as Mr. Geo. McDonald was about to take the train for Toronto, where he has accepted a position in Architect Ellis' office, he was presented with a beautiful gold ring on behalf of the Citizens' Band, as a mark of appreciation and expression of good wishes. George was taken completely by surprise.

Unmindful of the eighth commandment, last Friday night somebody stole two baskets of beautiful green gages from Mr. S. Mousley's garden. He has decided to keep a bull dog in the future. It would serve somebody right if he had more than the seat of his pants torn out while engaged in such a mean trick.

THE EDITORIAL PAGE

THURSDAY, THE SECOND DAY OF OCTOBER, NINETEEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY-TWO

LAST EDITORIAL

This is the last editorial we will write for the Era and Express. We are leaving shortly for Ottawa to do newspaper work there. The prospects are exciting but we are learning now how difficult it is to say goodbye to a task which has been as rewarding as the editorship of the Era and Express has been for us.

We have many happy memories of the men and women we have met in our work, of the undertakings attempted through the pages of the paper. In our eight years and some months here, we must have written a couple of million words. Some were good and some were bad; none, we hope, were indifferent. There were a few of which we were very proud. It has been work which has required of us the most we could give and our pleasure in it was accordingly great.

The Era and Express has received many honors. In three years, six trophies have been awarded the paper, five of them for excellence of its editorial page. We are proud of this recognition from our contemporaries. More satisfying has been the recognition given the editorial page by its readers. Our editorials have not always been popular. They have not always been consistent nor have our conclusions always been correct. We have never pretended to omniscience.

What we have written with an honesty of purpose. Our purpose was to criticize that which we believed wrong and to encourage that which we believed right. There were many who disagreed with our definition of right and wrong but we'll always treasure the respectful hearing we were given, no matter how strong the disagreement.

We would acknowledge too a debt of long standing to the owner of the Era and Express, Col. W. P. Mulock, for the complete freedom he permitted us. There were many times when the opinions expressed in this page were in conflict with his; never once did he suggest a restriction or limit upon our writing or attempt to influence our opinion. What we wrote was our own; that it should be so is a tribute to him, and for us, it meant a relationship between editor and publisher which we have valued highly.

To our successor, Mr. Jack Struthers, we extend our best wishes; to those who have followed this page, our sense of loss that so pleasant an association must end.

FIRST EDITORIAL

In accepting the managing editorship of the Newmarket Era and Express, we must admit that we do so humbly. The newspaper is 100 years old this year. We are conscious of the tradition which is behind it. While editors have come and gone, the "venerable" Era and Express, as the Globe and Mail called it a couple of years ago, has served Newmarket and district faithfully for a long time.

We are most conscious of the fact that this tradition of community service carries on no matter who is the editor. We admit that the personality of the editor shows itself, particularly through the editorial page and we agree with the retiring editor who wrote last week: the editorial page remains an expression of the editor's opinion, no more, no less and . . . it is completely foolish to advance any other claim on its behalf.

This paper goes into some 4,000 homes and is read by thousands more people. Many interests, opinions, religions and causes are represented by those thousands of readers. They are the ones whom this newspaper serves. This newspaper provides the means for individuals to express their own opinions. It is a mirror of community life; opinion, social events, municipal activities, accidents, births, deaths, marriages, festivities, religious activities, education and so on.

Considering all this, a new editor taking over feels less important. His work is just part of a function which has been going on for 100 years. He may help keep up the standards of the newspaper, improve them or he may fail to do either. As we said, editors come and go but the Era and Express carries on its job of serving its readers.

We have been with the newspaper over five years. We are not a stranger either to the newspaper or to Newmarket. Having attended school for three years at Pickering College and having taken training at the army camp during the war, we feel that Newmarket is almost home town.

We came to the newspaper five years ago, a green spring shoot. We have gained much in experience and our familiarity with the paper, its staff and the people of Newmarket and district gives us a feeling of confidence on the occasion of becoming the new editor.

We would like to make use of this opportunity to thank Mr. John Meyer, the retiring managing editor for his guidance during the past five years. We learned much through his patient instruction and his advice. Most of our knowledge of newspaper work came through him.

The opinions of the retiring editor, not the "voice of the people", were challenged often but we are of the opinion that his editorial efforts and his support of causes were made and given in the best interests of the Community. In his eight years as editor, he has made a great contribution to the Era and Express, the community and district.

We wish him well on his departure. We hope that he will find success in his future undertakings.

PRICE OF PROGRESS

The improvements to Yonge St. and the intersection of Davis Dr. and Yonge are necessary to remove a hazard which has too long existed. How unfortunate, however, to see the wholesale destruction of the trees which lined the highway to permit the widening. Progress extracts a high cost in wayside beauty.

The Barrie highway is pleasant to drive upon; the road is smooth, the grades easy, the curves long. But for all of these engineering accomplishments, the new highway still retains a hazard boredom. There is nothing along its sterile length to warm the eye and intrigue the rider's attention.

Now Yonge St. will be the same. One of the pleasures of that highway were its trees and although the department of highways does its best to conceal the scars of construction with sod and shrub and a tree-planting program, it will be years yet before the improved section will have any attraction, beyond its safety, and never again will it have the charm it possessed before its renovation.

BETTER EATING

(The Financial Post)

Gloomy old Mr. Malthus back in the 1820's said that population growth was outstripping the increase in the means of subsistence. He would have been quite amazed at what has happened in Canada in the past 16 years.

In 1951, the average Canadian consumed about 50 percent more food than he did in 1935. According to a Department of Agriculture study, the actual per capita spending on food increased by 236 percent, while the food price index went up by 150 percent. In food, the Canadian is getting more quantity and better quality.

The housewife complains about high food prices. But if Canadians were content to live on the same quantity and the same quality of food as each one had in 1935 (and there is no reason why they should—because some people were hungry in 1935), it could be bought for 15 percent of the income available for spending rather than the 25 percent it now gobbles up.

Here is another interesting fact. In the theory of consumer behavior, it is assumed that as income increases, the percent of it which goes for necessities like food, shelter, clothing, etc., declines. There is only so much food one can eat, so many shoes one can wear, etc.

But if true for an individual, that premise may not hold for a whole population at all—at least over a few years time. It is possible to double or triple a man's income in a very short time. But such sharp changes are improbable for a whole population's income. The increase in total income for a country is a much more gradual process. And there is ample time for new products and appetites to catch the consumers' fancy. Although higher national income may mean that some people spend a smaller proportion of their incomes on necessities, there are always lower income groups, who with more money at their disposal, will spend more on necessities. Hence, over periods of a few years or even over a generation, the food business and other items classed as necessities of life will probably continue to take about the same percentage of Canadian consumers' incomes.

The key to the selling program of other goods is to convince the consumers that they are just as necessary, and desirable as food.

Office Cat Reports Catnips By Ginger

Your favorite correspondent is busy this week. What with this changeover in the top brass, it's been pretty hectic. I am feeling like a schizophrenic; with two bosses, one leaving and another taking over, I don't know who's what and what's where and this madhouse is getting me down.

Slim Bliggins came into the office. "Well, I hear the old man is leavin'," said Slim.

"Yes he's leavin', I mean leavin'," I said, in no mood for conversation.

There was a moment's silence. "Who's takin' over?" asked Slim.

"Junior, eh?"

"Yes."

"Har, har."

"Oh, shut up," I said.

"Har, har. Guess you will be feelin' yer neck now, what that you and junior, shall we say, didn't always see eye to eye."

"Shut up," I said.

"Sorta been worryin' about yer job too, eh?" said Slim.

"Fraid junior might get sorta sore sometime and fire you, eh?" he taunted.

"Junior, I mean the boss, and I know where we stand," I said. "We're aloof of one another. He's aloof and I'm aloof. Just let him try and dictate to me though, freedom of the press and all that. If he does, I'll expose him."

"Well," said Slim with a sardonic look, "I wish you a sweet time. Har, har."

"Too bad the old boy is leavin' though. I always thought he was pretty tolerant to put up with the likes of you around here."

"Well, er, yes it is too bad and it will leave a very deep impression on this correspondent," I said. "Naturally we had our differences at times but I am sure the old boss realized what an asset my writings have been to this newspaper."

"You mean that ten people read your column and you figure that you have increased the circulation that much?"

"Oh shut up," I said.

"Say," said Slim. "Junior was thinkin' that maybe you should make a speech on the departure of the old boss and the arrival of the new one. Now I've got a barrel of fresh apple cider down to the shack. Why don't you and the boys, the old boss and junior come down and we'll toast out the old boss and toast in the new one. We'll just do that tonight."

So it was that Racoon, the foreman, Billiam, the printer, Kuster, the linotypist, Ole Albert, the pressman, and all the others gathered together this week and said farewell to the old boss.

It was a charming gathering. We sang the old songs, invented new ones and one of the apprentices took the lid off the cider barrel and fell in while looking at his reflection.

Racoon, the foreman, who is the jumpyest person in the plant fell asleep in the middle of the old songs. As the dawn crept out of the night, we wandered along our ways home, tired though happy and a lovely time was had by all.

The Top Six Inches by "Dairy Farmer"

We went to a real Fall Fair the other day, a fair which is largely still unspoiled by other things so prominent at fairs these days. As we were saying this was a fall fair, with lots of livestock, races and a parade, on a beautiful sunny fall day.

It was also a very well organized fair, where everywhere you saw a man with a director's badge, he was hard at work at something. The different breeds of livestock were judged without a hitch and every aspect of this show had the earmarks of being a community effort and the success of it was pleasing to all.

Here we also saw our first boys' and girls' lamb club showing their animals. The calf club boys and girls showed their calves in a separate class with their own respective breed and then showed them together for showmanship.

As we were looking at the crowds, so obviously in a holiday mood, and people visiting and talking, we couldn't help thinking of some of the things that we don't like, closer to home. First, the creeping commercialism which forgets year after year what the backbone of the fair should be, namely a good livestock show.

At the fair we were at, the four dairy breeds were shown in four adjoining rings. Now there are few people who like a particular breed so much more than another that they will not look at anything else. We believe, however, that the average fair goer, a farmer or retired farmer likes to watch cattle being judged. Now obviously, at a small fair, some classes are good at some breeds and others at another breed. We think that the idea of adjoining rings is a good one.

We feel that at some of our fairs at least too much is being sacrificed to concessions, advertising anything under the sun; livestock and other purely farm interests are being shoved aside. The fair is becoming a carnival and a sale of tickets on cars. We wish that some of the directors would go and visit these smaller fairs and learn over again what makes a fall fair a fall fair.

There is one more thing, a real beef if there ever was one. The health regulations for all class A and B fairs has been really tightened up and so it should be, for the good of all. However we feel that it is senseless to write regulations if nobody is going to bother to enforce them. As they stand today they aren't worth the paper they are written on. We know of several cases where a man got away without the necessary papers.

Now it involves a certain risk to test for a fair, a bad test and the animal can be branded. We either have to abide by this, all of us or forget about it. If the fairboard doesn't want to be ruthless, and step on toes, let them ask the government service to do the checking.

All this isn't as serious a complaint as we have concerning a matter which has nothing to do with fairs. This is the time of the year when beet pulp is offered on the market. This year it is offered for almost $10 more than last year. We understand that the sugar beet crop has been the best in years. We realize that some of the cost has gone up, but we are convinced that the real reason for this enormous increase in price is the old bugbear, the distribution system.

The crop is sold to large brokers who sell it to wholesalers and large mills, who sell it to the local mills who sell it to the farmer. This is just too stupid for words and puts this very convenient feed out of reach of many. What is more, the crop of all the factories is offered at the same price, which, too say the least, smells.

We wish the Federation would take note of this; we think they would have a good case to fight.

DAVIDSON-KNOWLES

A lovely autumn wedding took place in the Aurora United church on Monday, Sept. 1, when Jean Elizabeth, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Knowles, became the bride of Mr. Philip Harford Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Davidson of Aurora. Rev. Harvey Howey officiated in the double ring ceremony. Mr. Iltyd Harris played the wedding music and accompanied Mr. Fred Rowe who sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Because".

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father and looked charming in an imported gown of traditional white satin, with net yoke, embroidered in tiny seed pearls, full skirt falling into a chapel train. She carried a cascade bouquet of white gladioli and pink roses. Mrs. Charles Cowie was matron of honor, wearing in navy shot taffeta with low cut neckline and full sweeping skirt, nosegay and headdress of variegated flowers. Mrs. Ronald Saunders was bridesmaid in white shot taffeta and little Miss Joan Obie, cousin of the bride, was junior bridesmaid, wearing in navy shot taffeta and carried variegated flowers. All wore cameo necklaces, the gift of the bride.

Mr. Bob Knowles was best man and the ushers were Ronald Knowles, Ronald Saunders and Charles Cowie. The reception was held at the Graystones where the bride's mother received in navy blue with navy and white accessories and corsage of cream gladioli and pink roses. The groom's mother assisted in midnight blue with black accessories and corsage of cream gladioli and pink roses.

For her going-away ensemble the bride chose a beige suit with green accessories. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Davidson will reside in Ottawa.

SMITH-INGRAM

On Sept. 6th, 1952, Ravenshoe United church was the setting for a pretty wedding in which Joyce Audrey Ingram, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Ingram, Ravenshoe, became the bride of Keith Ernest Smith, Ravenshoe. Rev. G. Campbell performed the marriage ceremony. Miss June McNabb was organist and Dorothy McNabb was soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was crowned in cream satin with lace inserts, pearl head dress and long train veil. She carried a bouquet of white camellias and gladioli.

Miss Helen Ingram and Norma Bailey were bridesmaids, attired in taffeta sheer, with lace overskirt and jacket. They carried bouquets of gladioli and carnations.

Supporting the groom was Mr. Lawrence Barker as best man and Messrs. Donald Ingram and Alex Georgas as ushers.

The reception was held in Ravenshoe church hall, where the bride's mother received in a navy sheer nylon gown with red accessories. She was assisted by the groom's sister, crowned in pink crepe with black accessories.

Following the reception the bride donned a pink suit with navy accessories and a corsage of roses for their honeymoon trip to North Bay and Niagara. Visitors from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Mesley, Ottawa, Mr. and Mrs. McLean, Orillia, Mr. and Mrs. A. Giffen and Mr. T. Hankin, Minnipeg.

WOODHOUSE-JENKINS

A very pretty wedding took place in the Keswick Baptist church, when Mary Jeanette Jenkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins, Peterboro, became the bride of Vincent Harold Woodhouse, Newmarket. Rev. Mr. Henderson officiated at the ceremony.

The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. Allan Jenkins, looked lovely in a long white satin gown and long veil. She carried a white Bible and a bouquet of roses.

Helen Bruce, attendant of the bride, wore a long pink gown and carried a lovely bouquet of roses. Miss Sandra Puffer was the flower girl. She wore a long yellow gown and carried a beautiful corsage of mixed flowers.

Mrs. Harold Martin sang the wedding prayer during the signing of the register. Mr. John Lane played the organ.

On August 23, Stouffville United church parsonage was the setting for the wedding of Norma Jean Jordan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jordan, Mount Albert, to Beverley Wallace Beach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Beach, Stouffville. Rev. D. G. Davis officiated at the ceremony.

The bride chose a street-length white nylon net over tulle with navy trim. Her veil of nylon tulle was fastened to a satin headdress and she carried a nosegay of red roses.

Mrs. Donald Hill, cousin of the bride, was her attendant, wearing yellow sheer and a nylon tulle veil held in place by a headdress of seed pearls. Her bouquet was of yellow roses and mauve gladioli petals.

Mr. Donald Hill was best man. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where the bride's mother received in grey and fuchsia silk jersey, assisted by the groom's mother, wearing navy sheer with white and navy accessories.

For their wedding trip the bride donned a navy jacket over her wedding dress, completing the ensemble with white accessories.

POLLOCK-HEATON

Keswick United church was the scene for the wedding of Doris Irene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Pollock to John Francis Heaton, son of the late Mr. Frank Heaton and Mrs. Heaton of Keswick. Rev. Geo. Campbell officiated.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. Angus Cowieson and the soloist was Mr. George Attridge, Niagara Falls.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white imported guipure lace over satin, full skirt over crinoline, sweeping into a long train. Her three-tiered three-quarter length veil was caught to a Dutch cap trimmed with lily of the valley. The flowers were a bouquet of mums of white and yellow, centred by mauve lilies and cascades of Joanna Hill rose buds.

The bride's attendants included maid of honor, Miss Marilyn Prosser, and bridesmaids Miss Ruth Mary Winch, Miss Beverley Heaton. They wore gowns alike in colors of blue, pink and daffodil net over taffeta with embroidered net over taffeta boleros, their hats of a small Dutch type to match their gowns.

The groomsmen were John Crate and the ushers were Ross Heaton and Claude Pollock. Following the reception at the Royal Simcoe hotel, the couple left for a trip to the Laurentians. On their return they will live in Keswick.

Those who entertained for the bride previously to the wedding at showers and luncheons were: Mrs. W. D. Norval, Toronto; Miss Ruth Mary Winch and Mrs. Perry Winch, Miss Doreen Anderson and Mrs. W. Anderson, Mrs. Roy Pollock and daughters, Mrs. Burch and Mrs. Simms; Keswick United church ladies whose committee were Mrs. P. Winch, Miss Ruth Winch, Mrs. S. Sedore, Miss Jean Porter, Mrs. P. Mahoney, Mrs. Obee Peters, Mrs. Lloyd Prosser and daughters, Miss Marilyn and Mrs. Earl Winch; Ajax junior school teachers.

Mr. Iltyd Harris played the wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Lorraine Young of Willowdale who sang "O Perfect Love" and "Still as the Night".

Given in marriage by Dr. Richard Howey, great uncle of the bride, of Owen Sound, the bride chose a gown fashioned with a fitted basque of lace over satin, outlined at the neck with gold thread and finished with net. The skirt of nylon net over satin was inset with pleated lace and ended in a long train. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was caught to a hat of damask satin, edged with seed pearls and she carried cream peach and gold roses and mums.

Letters to the editor are always welcome but the names of the writers must be known to the editor.

The Editor:

The frontpage news these days in dailies, weeklies and farm press, makes it pretty clear that there is a battle being waged between the railways and the people who pay the freight rates. It is doubtless impelled by the demands of the railway workers for the odd $100,000,000 extra into their pay-envelopes over the next twelve months and likely, the competition being offered by other forms of transport (especially the truckers' endless hunger for more and more of the short-haul "cream of the freight") is in the picture, also?

According to a recent brief presented to the Board of Transport Commissioners by the CFA (the organized farmers at the national level), it is indicated that "all provinces except Ontario and Quebec are officially opposing the proposed $30,000,000 freight-rate increase" as presently being asked by the railways.

This latter point reminded me forcibly of a few keen thoughts by your "Dairy Farmer" columnist 'way back last spring, and which I see shining back at me from my clipping-book, as follows:

"We suspect that there is something in this off-the-farm markup pile worth looking at... We further suspect that Ontario farmers have been rather remiss in another respect as well. And this is freight rates. We seem to remember that when the other provinces kept protesting and opposing the freight increases, the province of Ontario never did join the western groups in this action. The attitude seemed to be that we were well off and didn't need to be so contrary. This particular chicken is now coming home to roost..."

The core of this freight-rate "battle" pivots, naturally, on the massive export grain tonnage of great prairie fields to the sea. This traffic moves, and must continue to move, under the Crow's Nest Pass rates, a long-term national policy. This reader is not able to say whether this tonnage is profitable to the railways or not. What was a rich vein of revenue, freight over the past 40 years, could easily peter out under today's upsurging take-home-pay demands, but why take it out of the farmers' already falling price-levels? Why endanger the national economy, merely to feed more wages to railway workers?

Canuck.

Four Teams Definite For 'Merks' Circuit

Plans towards setting up a strong Newmarket and District Hockey League took another step forward at last Thursday's executive gathering.

Vandorf will be definite starters again this year. Town Regents and Mount Albert indicated at a previous organization meeting that they'd be back again. Office Specialty, fourth team of last season, will not re-enter, it was learned.

Kettleybets have already indicated they are definitely interested in taking over the Office Specialty franchise. Can. Hoffman was also mentioned as a possible entry. League rules will be given a careful scrutiny as soon as a fourth team has been accepted. An entry fee of $5 per team has been set for this season. Ray Smith will donate a most valuable player trophy again this year. The league will again play double-headers each Monday night in the Newmarket arena. League officers will meet again next Monday at 8 p.m. at Ray Smith's residence, 38 Millard Ave., Newmarket.

Keswick, Belhaven Settle Jr. Title Tonight

One district softball title still lacks a claimant. That's the Lake Simcoe Jr. Men's Softball League. Keswick and Belhaven have been duelling over the past couple of weeks in a showdown series to declare a winner. It's been no dice; four of the games have gone by the boards as no contest due to darkness and postponements.

Tonight (Thursday) the two evenly-matched sides will play a double-header under the lights at Newmarket and settle once and for all who are the 1952 champions.

First game goes at 8 p.m. This may possibly be the hub fans' last opportunity to see softball this season. Both teams boast strong line-ups. The first game of the series went to Belhaven 3-0 as Murray Thompson pitched a no-hit, no-run game. Better take a look-see, fans, at some of the future greats of the Lake Simcoe Softball League.

Robert Fulton was a portrait painter before he became an inventor.

Senior Ladies Scrap Oshawa On Saturday

Lusty 11-hit swinging, paced by Mona Dean, Barbara Watt, Jeanne MacDonald, Mary Osborne and Lois Darrach, coupled with five-hit pitching by Sarah Barradell, enabled Newmarket senior ladies to trounce Oshawa juniors 11-5 at the fair grounds Saturday evening under the lights.

Coach Charlie VanZant booked in the game for the injured players' fund but was greeted by a very slim turnout. Local ladies never trailed, scoring two in the first on singles by Terry Reid and Mona Dean and added four in the second on a string of bingles by Mona Dean, Jeanne MacDonald and Barbara Watt.

Mary Osborne's double in the third increased the locals' lead to 7-0 and Lois Darrach clinched the win with a three-on homer in the fifth that set off a four-run frame.

Oshawa scored three in the fourth without benefit of a hit and completed their scoring in the seventh as Sarah Barradell with a two-hitter going to this point gave up three hits.

Sarah Barradell struck out six in the process of getting the win recorded. Grace Webster featured astid with a nice running catch in left.

Newmarket: T. Reid, M. Dean, J. MacDonald, B. Watt, L. Darrach, G. Webster, B. Williams, M. Osborne, S. Barradell, E. Sleight, A. Thoms, H. Clark.

The Hub came close again to winning an Ontario O.B.A. title. For a second year in a row an Optimist sponsored baseball team reached the Ontario finals. This season it was the bantams who almost turned the trick. They knocked off Port Hope in the semi-finals only to lose to the strong Ken Stephens, Chairman Boys Work Committee, Optimist Club, Bill Forhan ss, Brian Millon lf, Lowell Waller coach. Front row, l. to r., Don Zogalo lb, Bill Wilson 3b, Bill Cain c, Jack Cain p, 2b, Francis Lewis rf. Holidaying at the time the picture was taken were John and Charlie McGulre. (Photo by Haskett).

Mount Albert Ladies Win Third Straight Title

Newmarket Pin-ups and Mt. Albert, after several delays got around to polishing off the Lake Simcoe Junior Ladies' Softball League season Thursday at the fair grounds. Mount Albert needed one win to wrap up the best of seven series in four straight and they got it by tripping Geo. Watt's pennant-hungry Pin-ups 14-6.

That winning effort wrapped up the third straight league title for the Mounties and brought a flow of congratulatory messages along to Coach Gladys Rolling and her flag winning contingent. The Pin-ups who put up a surprisingly strong show in the first three games of the set, losing two by one run, were hampered in the climax game by the loss of three regulars. Isobel Rogers, Marlene "Pepper" Martin and ace twirler, Kathy Diceman, the latter in sick bay due to a bout of appendicitis.

Little doubt Marguerite Green was Mount's star Thursday. The Mount fire-ball ace subdued the Pin-ups on four hits and supplemented her pitching with a big four for five parcel of hitting. Her main props on the offensive were Lois Morrison and Ida Bertolin with two hits apiece.

Joan Quinn, Pin-ups trump card, punched out two hits and walked twice for a perfect plate night. Glenna Woodhouse, Pin-up starter on the mound and her successor in the fourth, Loretta Forhan, chipped in with the other bingles.

Errors and walks had Glenna Woodhouse in boiling water over the first three frames as Mount Albert jumped away to a 12-0 lead and to all intents and purposes had the title sewed up there and then.

Pin-ups got themselves out of white-wash hock with six unearned runs, plating two each in third, fourth and sixth.

Mount Albert: L. Morrison ss, J. Wagg lf, B. Meyers lf, R. Simpson lb, M. Green p, I. Bertolin cf, J. Harris rf, R. Longhurst rf, M. Harrison c, E. Green 2b, J. Rolling 3b, M. Gibney 3b, M. Morrison, G. Rolling, coach.

Newmarket: L. Forhan c, G. Woodhouse p, J. Quinn ss, B. McArthur lf, D. McGrath 2b, B. Williams 3b, P. Quinn rf, M. Lee lb, H. Tennant cf, Geo. Watt coach, Joe Burke asst. coach.

Fall Fanfare And Seasonal Awards

Fall Fanfare: Champions being declared on every hand and the vanquished retiring to the sidelines, and the victors lining up to receive the silverware and other awards. Banquet season gets underway in great gusto starting next week.

Thornhill are the winners of the new John Madsen Memorial trophy through the strong arm of Billy Bowen. They lost out in the semi-finals of the O.S.A. to the Niagara district winners.

Markham, defeated by Thornhill in the Markham title, moved into the O.S.A. intermediate B series and took a one-game lead in the finals at Amherstburg last Saturday, due to terrific pitching by Peggy O'Neil, and clutch hitting by Lloyd Tamer and Gord Coverley. The teams meet at Markham next Saturday, and a double feature will take place if the Bergers tie the series. It's the feature of the district sports program.

Maple, after being on the verge of elimination twice by Elia rallied to take the final game 4-0. Earl Law coming in the fourth to bring the threatened Elia rally to a halt. Stan Foster, well known all-round North York athlete captained the team with Herb Joslin as manager and Dick Taylor as trouble-shooter de luxe. Cookstown, due solely to the battery work of Harry Cause and his catcher Russ Hughes took the fourth game in seven from Bradford. Steven Megani, Keith Collings and all the rest gave the "Cookies" the scare of their lives. It's the umpteenth crown for Cause, and the third in four years for Cookstown.

Queen City Storage, led by the southpaw slants of Normie Stundeen, took the Aurora Town League crown three games to one, upsetting the champion Ditch Diggers who have ruled the roost for the past couple of years. Manager Cliff Chapman deserves special applause for the way his team improved over the season.

Mount Albert ladies finished an outstanding season of junior ball to bring at least one title to "The Mount". The club is ready for higher rating next season. Zephyr decked Mount Albert for the count of ten on Monday night with Ken Kester once again proving it was a pitcher's year with four-star hurling and batting. Ken Pickering, Ches Lunney and Don Hewlett played a big part to bring the Lockie-Law-Lunney clan their second straight pennant. The series proved too that Haskett's crystal ball was in good working order and the maestro was in no trance when he called Zephyr months ago.

Speaking last week of training, a lot of the success of Argos must go to trainer Geo. Stockwell who looks after a tough assignment with great gusto. Double-blue have had a minimum of crumbles and a lot of fast recoveries. Stockwell, trainer for Newmarket Redmen under the late Bill Hancock, did a similar job for the Redmen, with his tape, massages, and ammonia bombs, and those de luxe rub-downs.

Noticed that Regis Kelly, the "whirling dervish" of the Redmen '33, later with St. Mike's and the Leafs, is now a fireman on the C.N.R. out of North Bay, and was a member of the train crew in the recent wreck up north. "Pep", who played until two years ago, is now definitely on the retired list.

Girls' softball may be over in Cammilton, but there's doubtless considerable interest being shown in the Toronto finals as coach Marg McCarman leads her Northtown crew successfully against Dafnis. Marg had four hits out five trips to the plate in a recent game. The Newmarket girl is enjoying perhaps her best season of all from semi-retirement this year, and played steadily if not spectacular ball in the World's Championship series at the Toronto Ex.

The voice you hear with those letter-perfect announcements at each Argonnuts game at Varsity stadium is none other than that of Jack Life. North York sportsmen will remember Jack better as "Cpl. Life" of No. 23 B.T.C. who was one of the camp's best hockey players and also looked good at track, basketball and soccer. After the war Jack graduated from Varsity, in P.H. & E. and is now on the staff at Toronto U.T.S. His multifarious tones do much to add to the enjoyment of the game and are even heard at times on Wes. McKnight's broadcasts.

Chart Holmes, former Newmarket sports chief, was a happy man after the game in Toronto a week ago Saturday. Chart, who is an executive of the Hamilton club, had just about lost his voice but was able to croak "We'll take 'em next time for sure".

Al McNair, who used to play lacrosse for Maple and Woodbridge, but who has been in retirement at Brampton the past couple of years, came back to the national game in recent weeks to aid Streetsville in their successful battle against Aetion. McNair, who was a civil servant, is now in the implement business for himself, and is a very active member of Brampton Legion. Bill Capel, former track coach and hockey mentor at Aurora high and who played a bit of hockey for Aurora intermediates, middle-aged it recently. Bill is located in his native Owen Sound now.

Another schoolmaster, Bing Caswell, goalie—extraordinary, and former sports officers both at Brampton and Newmarket camps, is again at the helm of Bloor C.I. teams. With one of the smallest Toronto secondary school enrollments, Bing has had his team in contention most seasons, but weight of numbers is too much most times. Could be different this year as the teams are rated in conferences for the first time.

Ed. "Gori" Mangotich, the ace rasser of Garner's thespians, now holds the Canadian middle-weight crown, having pinned Jack Diamond, the champion, for the last two years at the Hill. The duo will now probably have the title decided at Newmarket, Aurora, Stouffville, Brampton and the Hill in succession.

Mrs. Annette Gardiner, wife of Fred Gardiner, formerly of Aurora, will handle the instructing chores for the Aurora Figure Skating club this year. As Annette Stephanie, Mrs. Gardiner is well known as solo artist and has been a teacher at the Granite club for several seasons.

Ruck, a two-year-old, handed John Stuart his first good win of the year at Woodbine last week. In the Coronation however, with Canadian showing her heels to the field all the way, Stuart's horse folded-up to finish last. Soccer under lights is being played at Lemonville with a regular schedule between district teams drawing good crowds. It's a first time for the district, and may spread.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

It was more annoying than funny at the time, but, looking back now, we find a certain degree of hilarity marked the end of the Olympic Games.

And of all things, the laughs were provided by the sombre Russians. When they were edged out on total points by promptly invented their own, and proved that they were the winners. It was so childish, so obviously in the naive Russian mould of propaganda, that at this distance, it's good for a chuckle.

And it's our notion that the international importance of the Olympics, as proving that any one country is physically better than another is just plain silly. Ideally, the Games are competitions among individuals; not between countries. Some countries have these individual stars at various times, some haven't. For popular consumption a newspaper scoreboard is kept. But triumph doesn't necessarily represent a national superiority over the countries which didn't do so well.

This being so, we're glad the United States won the mythical title. For the difference between a Russian and an American over-all points victory is that the Soviet propaganda machine would have made this a tremendous springboard for boasting the decadence of the "imperialistic" countries, as compared with the virility of Stalin's empire. America will merely boast its undeniably great athletes and attach no globular political significance to the outcome.

Superiority in running, or jumping, or throwing weights proves nothing as indicating one nation is more virile, stronger, than another. If it did, then Czechoslovakia would outrank all others, for they sent to the Games the greatest athlete of all, Emil Zatopek, the man who scored the unbelievable triple. We suspect that Russia went into the Games to prove what the propaganda machines would label national superiority, and they almost did it. We suspect, too, that the Soviet master-mind would not have allowed a Muscovite team to enter unless they were considered loaded; lest the cause of collectivism be set back by defeats on athletic fields.

That's the reason there developed that childish stratagem, a re-arrangement of the scoring values, to convince the folks at home that Russia really won, but was robbed by the money-barons of Wall street.

Let's forget any national significance or racial superiority that points-victory in the games might be taken to prove. Our own Canada didn't get many points in the Olympics, but we happen to think, even so, that Canada is a very swell country in which we prefer to live, in preference to all others, even if we never score another Olympic triumph.

Aurora District High School Opened By Ontario Premier: New Editor Era And Express

From start to finish, the official proceedings of opening the new Aurora District High School were carried through with a distinction that befitted the historic occasion. It was a truly historic occasion, and there was a great audience to acclaim it, at the head of which was the Prime Minister of Ontario himself, the Hon. Leslie Frost, Q.C., L.L.D.

There could be no prouder man among the audience, estimated at 1,200, than the chairman of the High School Board, Dr. G. W. Williams, who has seen his dreams come true. We recall an afternoon in the spring of 1950, when Dr. Williams unfolded to us tentative plans of the new school, which had been in his mind for some years. On Friday night, September 28, 1952, just after 10 p.m., the Premier of Ontario, with his right arm around Dr. Williams' shoulder, declared the new Aurora District High School officially opened. The dream had become a reality.

It was a history-making night and it was a grand affair, thoroughly enjoyed by all who shared in it. It is a lovely school. It has cost a lot of money, but the goods are there to justify the expense. It must be one of the best in Canada. It has added greatly to the prestige of Aurora, and district, which includes the townships of King and Whitechurch.

On A High Note

All the speeches were on a high note. It would be invidious on our part to single out addresses for special mention, when all of them had an individual distinctive flavor. There was a shawl of gay wit in the remarks of Mr. W. Adams, B.A., as there was deep sobriety in the remarks of the Rev. G. O. Lightbourn, D.D., O.B.E. There were both these admirable ingredients in the address of welcome by the chairman, Dr. Williams. There were wit, sobriety and humor in the remarks of Dr. van Nostrand, who performed the task of introducing the guest speaker of the evening, Dr. Leslie Frost, the Ontario Premier.

All such qualities were contained in the speech of Dr. Roland Hill, D.D., and the remarks of his former dominion and principal of the school, Mr. J. H. Knowles. For Mr. Knowles, too, this was a proud occasion; an occasion culminating his nearly 30 years' supervision as high school principal.

National pride was evinced in the words of Lt. Col. J. F. Westhead, M.B.E., as he presented the flag to the school; a gift accepted most graciously by Major N. F. Johnson, E.D., B.A.S.C.

There was charm and exaltation in the renditions by the choir under the conductorship of Mr. Illyd Harris; a national and spiritual uplift which found a ready and generous response from deeply appreciative listeners. The four numbers sung by the choir gave a choral vintage to the evening's eloquence.

The Premier's Address

The Premier spoke for half an hour. It was a fascinating experience for all those who had the pleasure of hearing it. The Premier has an easy, somewhat paternal style of delivery, which is fluent and colorful in quality. He had throughout his address a very attentive audience.

Towards the end of the address Mr. Frost dealt with the unlimited potentialities of Canada, emphasizing the good fortune enjoyed by Canadians of the present time and the abundant promise of the future. As far as the younger of his listeners were concerned, a highlight of his closing remarks was the promise that Friday, October 3, would be a holiday for all the schools; to mark the occasion they were celebrating. It was a fine speech for an historic event.

John A. Meyer

It is with great regret that we are parting company with our business colleague and personal friend, Mr. John A. Meyer, who for over eight years has filled the position of managing editor of the Era and Express. Mr. Meyer has resigned from the paper to take a position in a public relations capacity at Ottawa. Readers will find a fuller reference to this major event in the life of the Era and Express in other columns of this week's issue. It is our intention in an early issue of Aurora News Page to review in greater detail the newspaper work of Mr. Meyer, and to give our impressions of the man with whom we have worked in a singularly close affinity for the past year and a half. We have reviewed, within the brief limits of newspaper space, the careers of many local men during the past few years, the majority of them resident in Aurora.

In the case of John Meyer our review will necessarily be more personal in character. When we first began to write for the Era and Express it was almost necessary for us to exchange introductions, since we were scarcely known to each other. During the past twelve months especially we have got to know each other in that intimate mental sense where formalities give place to frank understandings. The longer we have come to know John Meyer, the greater has grown our regard for him.

At this moment, therefore, we can only bring ourselves to say how sincerely sorry we are that the break with this newspaper has come for him, and to wish him all success in a new career. When we have sorted out our data, we shall try and put on the record something that his many thousands of readers may remember him by, together, we hope, with an accompanying picture. For the moment we shall allow him to speak for himself in the farewell editorial he is, we believe, writing for the present issue.

New Managing Editor
Mr. Meyer has been succeeded by his assistant John E. Struthers, who for a number of years has been news editor of the Era and Express. In the period of our association with the paper we have come to know Mr. Struthers to the point of personal friendship. In a later issue we propose to give our readers a pen portrait, with accompanying picture, of the young man who now succeeds the Era and Express editorial chair; a chair occupied by famous editors of the past.
Mr. Struthers has spent five years on the paper and is, therefore, intimately informed on its operations; its business and its reader-service activities. He takes over at a time when the paper is at a peak point in its circulation history, but which, the evidence goes to show, will be greatly expanded. In this belief, and pending our future write-up of the new managing editor, we wish Mr. Struthers every success in the important position he now assumes.
Having already been asked what changes these events might have on Aurora News Page, our reply is, none whatever, except in one important particular, namely, that we shall presently be expanding our Aurora advertising and job-printing facilities. As far as policy is concerned, we shall continue to operate Aurora News Page as an independent and unshackled editorial and news service for Aurora and district. In other words, we shall carry on a hitherto, plus business expansion.

Lawn Bowling Tournament
The following were winners at the Trebles tournament at Aurora on Saturday, Sept. 27. First prize, with 56 points, went to George Patterson (skip). Cliff Bernardo and Russell Sinclair. Second prize, 49 points, to Charles Fry (skip), N. G. Madge and Charles Copland; and third prize, 38 points, to Elgin Wagg of Stouffville and his team.
The winners in the draw were: Mrs. Mac Gorrow, Aurora, first prize, one set of bowls and case; second prize, Lt. Gage, Kingston, Ontario, one set of bowls; and third prize, Emerson Dale, Beeton, a bowling measure. Mrs. Irwin Watts made the draw.
At the Tottenham tournament, held on Wednesday, Sept. 24, Charles Fry (skip), and William Morris secured second prize in the men's doubles. Congratulations to all winners mentioned above.

A Lovely Picture!
Two beautiful brown Labrador dogs sitting in the front seat of a car parked on Main St. on Saturday morning last, in front of John Morning's drug store. Mr. Charles Davies drew our attention to them and they looked a lovely picture, sitting straight up and looking ahead.
They were the property of Mr. R. J. Corbett, farmer, of Whitechurch township, who came out from the Old Country four years ago. Labradors are a fine breed of dogs, strong, intelligent and handsome, and reliable caretakers.

ONE BOARD TOO MANY

There is one board too many in Aurora. The redundancy is the arena board. It should pass out of existence and be replaced by the Recreation Commission. This is a live, energetic body. It meets twice monthly and its members are keen on the ball. Their activities are well publicized for the reason that they welcome the services of the press.

If the arena were supervised by the Recreation Commission provincial grants would become available which are not open to the arena board. That is one sound argument for a necessary change. Another is that instead of a lukewarm, languid supervision of arena affairs there would be enthusiasm and progress. The laments of "Too Late" would cease. The Recreation Commission would, if its past history is any guidance, give to arena affairs the dynamic injection they so badly need.

This suggestion is not a new one. We made it in these columns some twelve months ago. Our understanding is that the relevant by-law would permit of such a change. That such a change has become more and more imperative is constantly made manifest. "It's the same old story," said Councillor Corbett at the last meeting of council. "They wait until the fall until they ask for something that should have been done in the spring."

Arena business could be revived. But not by a board whose epitaph could appropriately read "Too Late". Its members should retire and make way for more energetic and progressive successors.

SANCTUARY IN CANADA

Some weeks ago there came to council a slim youth of apparent German nationality, of an age from 22 to 25. He came to obtain a licence which, as the facts revealed, he did not need for the small trading activities he proposed to pursue. He had respect for the laws of his adopted country and was anxious to observe them. When the facts were explained to him he bowed politely to the mayor and council, expressed his thanks, smiled, and went his way.

The thought occurred to us that but for a megalomaniac named Hitler this German youth would have grown up a worthy citizen in his native land. His courteous, forthright manner, and his respect for law, all these suggested that he will become a good Canadian citizen. He was an offshoot, presumably, of the mad Hitler regime; a youth who had sought sanctuary in Canada, where civilized freedom prevails.

There is something profoundly pathetic in the exodus from the once great country that Hitler and his crazy satellites ruined. The impact of that disordered, ferocious mind will be felt by generations still unborn. Those generations of the future have no control over the forces that rent the country they will inherit. The casualties resulting from the brief but terrible reign of Hitler did not cease with his melodramatic suicide. Hitler casualties are in Canada and in many other parts of the earth, in search of a better and a more compassionate world.

That is pathetic enough. But there is a deeper pathos in the knowledge that the land of Mozart, Beethoven, Goethe and Schiller, is now partly invaded by the Mongolian hordes from the east, whose bloodthirsty doctrines the civilized western nations are resolved on keeping in check and finally extirpating. It is the choice between freedom and barbaric slavery.

POINTS OF VIEW

An old resident of Aurora said to us some time ago that he wouldn't mind if the town remained more or less as it is for the rest of his time. Since he is a man of middle age, that could mean a long time. He wasn't concerned so much with the quantity as he was with the quality of the town.

Two of the leading business men on Main street told us that they had enough business already and weren't looking for expansion. They said a larger town would mean not less but higher taxes. Any considerable increase of business would mean larger overhead and general operating costs and in the end the benefits would not justify the disadvantages. They were interested in improving rather than in "promoting" the town.

Expansion does not necessarily mean progress and a better life. It is true that no individual or community can satisfactorily subsist in what has been described as a "state of suspended animation". There is either progress or decline; there is no middle course.

There is, however, a great difference between staid development and mushroom growth. There is plenty of evidence of the latter in communities south of Aurora, where there has occurred a rash of building that offends the eye and the landscape. A community that suddenly overloads itself is analogous to a student who crams in a hurry for an examination. Both expose themselves to the danger of an expensive breakdown.

During the course of the past century Aurora has enjoyed an orderly and steady rate of progress, and is today a town of character and quality. We think that the points of view of the citizen and the business men we have quoted deserve careful thought.

COUNCIL SIDELIGHTS

Charging That Promises Had Not Been Kept, Councillors Request Return Of Sponsors

Reeve Cook presided for one hour at the last meeting of council, prior to the mayor's appearance at 9 o'clock, his absence being caused by earlier, important business. Once before, during the period of the mayor's summer vacation, the reeve presided over council and, as we said at that time, did the job successfully.

We mention this matter to draw attention to the fact that, with these two exceptions, Mayor Rose has attended all meetings of council throughout 1952. One of the arguments used against him during the 1951 election campaign was that the unexpected demands made on him as a medical man would mean that council business would be interrupted by comings and goings arising out of these uncertainties.

Nothing like that has happened. Mayor Rose has been in regular attendance at all council meetings and stayed there, often until near midnight, and once or twice beyond that hour, seeing business through. With few exceptions, business has started promptly at the hour of eight o'clock, in deference to what the mayor once described as "the irksomeness of a late start."

Nor must we overlook the generally unflinching punctuality of members of council and the regularity of their attendance. It is a pleasure for us to put it on the record that the 1952 council, as with its predecessor, has maintained punctuality and regularity. Without exaggeration, we can say from our experience that the town council gives a lead to other organizations in town for good time-keeping in starting business and regularity of attendance.

Complaints

Mayor Rose took over while council was listening to an official of the North York Humane Society outlining his understanding of dog control. The official was a pleasant young man who stated that his activities in this area had begun on August 17 only. Complaints of council could not, therefore, be justly directed at him. But he did hear the complaints.

One of the strongest of them fell from the lips of the mayor, who declared that he had seen no improvement whatever in the matter of dogs running loose, and that his own garbage bins had continued to be "ransacked" as though no dog control were in effect. Members of council were equally indignant at what amounted to a charge that town money was being wasted on the contract.

Councillors D. J. Murray and Ralph Tucker took the logical stand that the delegation who came to council, and persuaded it to enter into the contract with the North York Humane society, should again come to council and explain the alleged failure. The delegation consisted of Col. T. Dann and Mrs. Fielding.

"Now or Never"

As the published records of the delegation's arguments would show, when they came to council on the evening of Monday, June 2, Col. Dann and Mrs. Fielding, taking a "now or never" attitude, stated that a decision, one way or the other, must be made that night. Reeve Cook and Councillors Davis and Murray especially, wanted the matter delayed for council to "think it over."

No time was to be permitted for thinking it over! A decision, it was stated, had to be made that night. Consequently a decision was made. Those supporting the arrangement with the North York Humane society were Mayor Rose, Deputy Reeve Murray and Councillors Corbett, Jones, King and Tucker. Opposing the arrangements were Reeve Cook and Councillors Davis and Murray.

Failure of Contract

It seems obvious that further clarification on the part of the North York Humane society will have to be presented to council and assurances provided that for the remainder of the contract fulfillment of its obligations will be guaranteed. Non-fulfillment of contract provides a reasonable reason for the redemption of monies paid for purposes stipulated but not performed; and the mayor and members of council were unanimous on the failure of the contract made with the North York Humane society.

The request that Col. Dann

One of the youngest business men in Aurora, Mr. Douglas Harrison, has experienced very great success in the six years he has been operating the Aurora dairy. To undertake a venture of such a character at the early age of 25 is exceptional. Special personal qualities provide the explanation.

Doug Harrison is a young man of a modest and unaffected de-

He started from scratch and owes his present success to his own efforts, plus another influence. That influence he has de-

Zoning By-Law Delays Bring Protests From Dr. Boulding Tucker Charges "Filibuster"

Members of the planning board again conferred with council on the subject of the zoning by-law on Monday night, Sept. 29. Mayor Rose and Councillor Clarence Davis were absent, all other members of council being present. Town solicitor, Lorne C. Lee, represented council at the meeting.

Protests From Board

If the meeting were to be adjourned, said Dr. Boulding, there were one or two things he had to say. The board, he claimed, was trying to do a good job for the town, and they were not a group of morons. "If council thinks we're no good," he said with some warmth, "it had better kick us out."

By-Law "Danger Marks"

Following some preliminary discussion on zoning boundaries and definitions in the draft by-law, the town solicitor dealt at considerable length with what he described as "danger marks" in the proposed new legislation. Mr. Lee said it was not the legality of the proposed by-law he was contesting, but the results that would follow from it if council passed it.

Pointing out that he had been requested to present a report on the by-law for the guidance of council, Mr. Lee said he was not a man to act in a hurry, or on the spur of the moment. He intended to get full information from other municipalities and the data he wanted was not yet in hand.

Warning council that the zoning by-law was full of loopholes, he added that they should not forget they were legislating for all the people and not just a few. Once such a by-law was passed, he said, property owners could be faced with expensive procedures that might take weeks, even months, to settle. Every member of council, he said, should study the draft by-law very thoroughly and make himself cognizant with it. Mr. Lee claimed that the planning board already had enough authority and enough control. Council represents the people, he said.

Other Views

Mr. John Sisman maintained that the zoning by-law was needed for the town, adding that there should be economic planning in the interests of inducing more industries to locate in the district.

On a point made by Mr. Clarke that they had anticipated the support of King and Whitechurch townships, Mr. Tucker observed that they could not wait until the whole of Ontario was zoned. Other members of the planning board defended the by-law, with Councillor Murray asserting that there were too many difficulties in it for council to pass it.

No headway having been made, it was suggested by Mr. Tucker that the meeting adjourn.

rived from the woman he married nine years ago. Of Mrs. Harrison, Doug has this to say: "I couldn't get along without her." There is one clear-cut sentence, is the other "influence" of his success. It is a sentiment that all happily-married men will applaud.

Beginnings
Doug Harrison was born at Snowball in the year 1921. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harrison, formerly of King township and resident for some years in Aurora.

After attending school at Snowball, he went on to Aurora High school where he remained for three years. At 14 years he started work in a service station at Snowball and stayed there for one year. Later he was employed by Lyle Sparks, the former owner of Aurora dairy. He remained with Mr. Sparks for five years and then bought the business from him.

Then And Now
For some time previous to his employment with Mr. Sparks, Mr. Harrison operated a milk transport service from Newmarket. When he took over the Aurora dairy six years ago he began with one wagon and two trucks. So greatly has his business increased that today he requires five trucks and two wagons.

Six years ago he was employing four men and three girls. Today he has ten men and ten girls on his payroll. His trucks and wagons now cover an area embracing Aurora, King and Whitechurch townships, and Innisfil township in the county of Simcoe.

Aurora dairy also operates a canteen service at Sisman's and Collis leather company and provides a special milk delivery to all the factories. At the Aurora dairy itself, on Yonge street, an excellent cafe service is provided and enjoys a large patronage.

In 1948 he originated an ice cream service. From one wholesale account the business has grown to the number of 15 such accounts. The quality of the Aurora dairy ice cream service continues to grow in popularity. The motto in his business is to provide the best possible quality and service.

The oldest members of Mr. Harrison's staff in periods of service are Mike Dennis and Delford Turnbull, who have been with him for five years. Harry Sutton started with him, but left for other employment. He has since returned to Aurora dairy.

Family Life

Doug Harrison is a family man. In 1943 he married Miss Ina Sheridan of Whitechurch township. His family consists of son George, aged 7, Patricia, aged 5, and Janet, aged 3. His first devotion is to his wife and family.

Mr. Harrison is a member of the Aurora Lions club and the Junior chamber of commerce. He is also an Oddfellow. He is also president of the Santa Claus parade organization and, with his committee, is already actively at work on plans for a record display at Christmas, 1952.

Doug has little time left over from his business for hobbies. But he has always been interested in hockey and for the last four years has taken time out for some deer hunting.

Aurora News Page takes pleasure in adding this brief outline of the history of one of the youngest and most successful Aurora business men to its panel of "Know Your Merchants," and good fortune wishes him and Mrs. Harrison a continuance of well-deserved

HOME AND SCHOOL

Parents Evolve Child Code Through Experiment

The following article, by Caroline Ion, was published in the Era and Express last year. Because of the interest in the article and because of numerous requests, it is being reprinted.

When parents and children can meet and discuss problems of common interest, a step toward better parent-child relationships has been taken. A code or pattern for handling future difficulties can be drawn up. Beyond this listing of desirable conduct for both adults and youth, a bond is fashioned which will help to bridge the ever-existing gulf between the two generations.

An experiment along these lines was carried out in Newmarket under the sponsorship of the Newmarket Home and School Association. Parents of children attending the public schools in town met to discuss phases of day-to-day living, the way they affected their families and their ideas regarding them. Such questions as movies, radio, allowances and church, as well as many others, were discussed by the adults. Similar questions were discussed in the class rooms by the pupils in grades seven and eight. Their teachers brought the ideas of these groups to the meeting.

There was general agreement in all groups of parents, teachers and children regarding the various questions. Some included additional ideas in their findings. In compiling these agreements a code for parents and children has been constituted.

Parties and Hours
Social events should be held on weekends or on festive occasions and limited to one or two months. They should end by 10.30, and all parties should be supervised without being dominated. Preference was shown for house parties, to include active games in which all could participate.

Radio
Radio and study periods don't mix. There should be a time for study and a time for listening to the radio. Selection of programs should be supervised by adults. Unwise for a child to have a radio in his own room.

Motion Pictures
Attendance at movies should not exceed one a week, preferably on Friday evening or Saturday. Poor weekend pictures justify a through-the-week early showing as the occasional practice. Parents should supervise child's selection of movies. Considered wise for adults to encourage child's participation in sports, hobbies or a club to replace habit of regular show attendance.

Church
Regular attendance at church and Sunday school is the aim, with parents' example of church attendance, support and interest in the work of the church as the encouragement for the child.

Sports and Clubs
Children should be discouraged from becoming "joiners". Loyalty to a group, important character training, received in belonging to one group in which child's interest lies, rather than in being a member in an assortment of clubs in name only.

Skills and Hobbies
Every child should have a hobby. Encouragement and help as needed are his right to expect from the adults in his life. Through such encouragement the hobby may develop skills.

School Attendance
A child should be taught early in life the value of being in school every day, and every day on time. Illness and emergencies were considered the only excuses for absence from school.

Time taken from school for the promotion of one of the arts was justified if the child maintained his regular work, because it was considered but another phase of children not necessarily falsifying... active imagination. The most desirable results are not obtained through forcing.

Allowances
Every child should have one. The amount depends upon the child's needs and should be related to the family's budget. By handling his own allowance, the child learns the value of money. Loans were not recommended.

Home Duties
Every child as a part of the family unit should have some definite responsibilities in his home. Responsibility for promptness and regularity at school rested 90 percent with parents and 10 percent with children.

Homework
Complete co-operation between teacher, parent and child, with as little homework as possible to allow for other educational and social developments. When homework assigned, parents' responsibility to encourage child in the work. Try to supervise to see that work which a child needs most is practiced rather than set aside.

Social Development
Parents should encourage children to bring their friends home with them. Parents and teachers should help children to learn social graces and ability to fit into strange surroundings. Adults should set an example by their behaviour of appreciating the rights of others.

Profanity and Falsifying
Parents should set example they wish their children to follow. "Tall tales" in younger home. Important for parents not to set too high standards for child so that duties become over-burdensome. Allowances should not be related to regular

What A Teacher Expects Of Parents

Speaking at the opening meeting of the Newmarket Home and School association on Sept. 24, Miss Eva Barnes outlined what teachers expect from parents. Miss Barnes is principal of the King George school.

"Assist your child in being punctual. Help him to feel that illness is the only reason for being absent. Send a note whenever absence occurs and do put on the reason for such absence. We expect parents to have children at school on time. Now, that doesn't mean 8.15 in the morning or 12.30 at noon. How can they be supervised when they come at such early hours?"

So often these early birds come with dirty hands and faces; teeth not brushed, hair uncombed. Or, if that had been done, all is as bad as before by the time school is called.

"We expect each child in the school, yes, even the kindergarten children, to know his own name, surname as well as Christian name, his address and the way to and from school. Each child should be taught to 'stop, look and listen' before crossing the street."

"It would be a great help to have names inside goloshes, rubbers, shoes and clothing. Do you realize the tears that are shed, the heartbreaks that occur and the time wasted over lost articles at the arena? There are so many the same color, the same size, the same style, that they do get mixed. It is practically impossible for the children to tell their own without some special identification. Would it be too much trouble to sew tape on sweaters and coats at the back of the collar so that they will stay on hooks? "We expect you as parents to be interested in your child's progress. Show him that you are interested. Encourage him to do his best. That's all anyone can do. His progress is not satisfactory unless he is working at the peak of his ability."

"Consult the child's teacher. Anyone of us will be happy to tell you how you can give needed help at home."

"When children come home with weird yarns may we expect a reserved judgment when listening to their tales of woe. You know how stories grow. Repeat a sentence to some of your friends and you will find little if any resemblance to it when you hear it again. Try it sometime. Investigate the child's account of what has happened."

"Every child should be taught to obey quickly and cheerfully. He should have a good night's sleep, followed by a substantial breakfast. Then he will be ready for a good day's work. And, to a child, a day at school is a day's work."

"I am really worried about what television can do to our children."

ST. ANDREW'S W.A.

The Women's Association, St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, Newmarket, met at the home of Mrs. William Dunstan on Tuesday, Sept. 16. The devotional period was conducted by Mrs. Fred Meredith and Mrs. Leonard Little. Mrs. Roy McDonald presided. There was discussion about the annual St. Andrew's bazaar which will be held November 28. Following the business session, dainty refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. W. Connell.

and then he has taken possession, changing the whole pattern of living. Meal times, bedtime, the arrangement and style of furniture have been altered.

"Clever people have made this giant but parents must be expected to keep it under control. The most avid listeners are the five and six year olds. They are fascinated by it and for an average of four hours each day will sit crouched in chairs or sprawled on floors watching the screen."

"Emotional upsets, callousness of death and suffering inflicted by others which children see, cannot fail to affect them. Now, not all programs are bad. In fact some of them are excellent, but parents must know the kind of programs children are seeing. Remember too, television must not be permitted to exclude reading, hobbies, games and other activities in which children have always been naturally interested."

"Television is here today. Its powers and influence are going to grow, not decrease. Since children remember what they see, the influence for good or evil depends largely on the part played by intelligent parents."

"We expect you to provide a home where the child has a strong sense of security and love; where he can live co-operatively with others, deal fairly, speak and act honestly; give a superior concept of life's values so that he will feel he has a valuable contribution to make to the world, first as a worthy member of the family, next as a squareshooter at school and finally as a good citizen of a grand country."

"Again, may we ask you not to criticize the school, the teacher, the trends in education, while a pupil is listening. No matter what you think, no matter what you feel like saying, can't you wait until your child is out of hearing before giving vent to your feelings? How can we curb youth's tendency to criticize or the lack of respect to those in authority?"

"You as parents have the first responsibility to show children how democracy works. We as teachers expect you to accept that responsibility."

THRIFTY WOMEN EVERYWHERE know the value of making their own gifts for Christmas. What could be a better present than a lovely handmade article? It's comforting to know someone cares enough to spend a little time, thought and energy in creating a gift especially for you.

Choosing Gifts
Whether your hobby is sewing, knitting, crocheting or embroidery, your choice is wide from the many useful as well as suitable small gifts. An important thought when choosing for others is to always bear in mind the tastes of the person to whom you intend giving the present. Does he prefer certain colors to others? If so, it is wise to be sure you pick his favorite colors in order that she will enjoy using your gift. If she is a close friend you will know whether or not she needs towels, washcloths, potholders, hot plate mats, etc. Many women enjoy receiving aprons because the aprons are so pretty today, it is a pleasure to wear one. Then there are sweaters and blouses for the fashion conscious teen-agers, dresses for little girls... inexpensive to make and nice ones, costly to buy... sweaters, socks, mittens and scarves for little boys, not to mention the stuffed, cuddly toys that are popular with all children.

Working With Applique
If you are an embroidery enthusiast, you will enjoy working with applique patterns. It's so much fun and easy to do. All you do is cut out your pattern, place it carefully in the desired position, fold in the edges (be sure they are even), baste, then stitch carefully with a whip stitch. If you prefer, you can use a button-hole stitch which is very effective with certain patterns such as fruit or flowers. Bold patterns and colors can be chosen for applique which make your work smart and good looking.

Hand-made Towel
The towel pictured here is an example of good taste and design. The wings of the fly are done in applique while the body is embroidered in outline stitch and worked on oyster white linen. A leaflet is available for making this DRAGON FLY TOWEL, by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this paper requesting Leaflet No. E-5036.

Pick Utensils As Craftsman

Pots and pans, cookie sheets, casseroles, measuring cups and egg beaters are the tools of the homemaker just as a hammer and nails are the tools of the carpenter. As a homemaker you should choose your kitchen tools just as carefully as any craftsman.

There are three things which should be considered before it is decided which pot or pan or other utensil is to be bought for the home. First of all, is it durable and sturdy and will it stand up to the wear it will be given? Secondly, is it convenient to use and care for? Thirdly, is it suitable for the type of cooking which will be done in it? It is always wise to remember that buying pans of good quality is an economy rather than an extravagance.

On the other hand, it may be sheer extravagance to pay top price for pans which are seldom used. The appearance of the utensil and the descriptive label may to some extent denote its quality, but if the homemaker is familiar with the characteristics of the different materials used for utensils it is much easier to decide which utensils to choose.

There will be a saving both in money and storage space if a utensil may be utilized for several purposes rather than for just one purpose. Some homemakers prefer matched pots and pans bought in individual pieces or sets while others prefer different types of utensils. For instance, one homemaker may have an iron frying pan, a glass baking dish, an aluminum roaster and enamel ware pots and pans, while the person living in the next home may have all aluminum or stainless steel utensils.

Today, in the stores, there is a great variety of cooking utensils from which to choose. The home economists of the department of agriculture say that they have no actual preference of material for cooking utensils but they want to point out a few facts about each type.

Aluminum may be used for pots and pans of all types. Heavy and medium weight aluminum pans are very durable. Light weight aluminum ware is cheaper, but is often too thin to stand up to daily use. If a pan is to be used daily it will pay to buy heavy aluminum.

For things such as jelly moulds, which are used only occasionally, the light weight will do. Though easily darkened by alkalies in foods and water, aluminum readily responds to cleaning with soap and water or a mild abrasive or a weak solution of household acid such as vinegar or lemon juice.

One of the newer materials, stainless steel, is now being used for utensils. As a utensil made entirely of stainless steel would tend to become too hot in spots, it is usually found that the bottoms are made of copper.

The surface of enamel ware is really glass used on a steel base by firing at a high temperature. It is smooth, non-porous and easy to clean. Good quality enamel ware is resistant to acids and it is not readily marked by metal spoons as is the poorer quality. Quality in enamel ware depends on the number of coats of enamel and the thickness of the base. Treat enamel ware as you would treat glass, avoid sharp knocks and see that the utensils do not boil dry.

W. A. PARTY

The members of the Afternoon Branch of St. Paul's Woman's Auxiliary enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. J. Miller, Davis Dr., when they held their opening meeting of the season at her home. Mrs. Miller had arranged for an outdoor party, but owing to the extreme heat, it was held indoors where the temperature was many degrees lower. It was a most enjoyable occasion, and a splendid start for the season's work.

Dorcas meetings start today and will continue from now on. The president hopes for an increased membership and a hearty welcome awaits any new member.

WINNERS DECLARED

Play for the Davis Cups, emblematic of intermediate tennis laurels, was completed at the local courts recently. Maureen West defeated Pat Cook 6-4, 6-3 to capture the girls singles crown. In the boys division finals, Charles McGuire staged a fighting comeback to outlast Marilyn Bales 3-6, 6-4, 8-6 for intermediate honors. Both winners were presented with the Davis Cups at the conclusion of the tourney by trophy donor Keith Davis. In the junior girls tournament, Mary Vale defeated Betty Bell 6-2 to win the title. The boys junior event will be completed this week.

Hobby and Homecraft Show Manager Speaks To King Group

"Canadians enjoy the relaxation of creative self-expression and are known for their interests in the handicraft field. Last year the handicraft products made in Canada had an estimated retail value of more than 100 million dollars," Mr. J. J. Bonnie, general manager of Canadian International Hobby and Homecraft Show, told Kingcrafts Guild, at the home of Lady Flavell, Sept. 24.

"Interest in crafts and hobbies increases and the pleasure derived is based on the interest one has, rather than on the excellence of the work. In all walks of life, men and women are seeking some means of relaxation that takes them out of the daily routine. Building an interest provides a happier outlook for the individual, the community and the nation. Leisure time is becoming increasingly important," said Mr. Bonnie. "If people are not given an opportunity to use their leisure time intelligently, they may spend it foolishly or even dangerously."

As guest speaker, Mr. Bonnie explained the purpose of the first Canadian International Exhibition, to be held Feb. 8-14, 1953, in the Coliseum, Toronto Exhibition Grounds. Not only will it embrace displays across Canada, it will show those from the United States, Great Britain and the continent. It will be an opportunity for the individual or group exhibitors to "reach out", to share their knowledge and interest and to stimulate those who do not engage in leisure time crafts and hobbies.

While the venture is primarily commercial, almost half of the 54,000 feet of space on the two floors of the west annex Coliseum will be devoted to every known hobby and craft. It will be an international mecca for exchange of ideas.

Mr. Bonnie was interested in Kingcrafts entering the show in a group project, manning their own exhibits and demonstrations. Unfinished work is preferred, with the demonstrator at work.

"You have already built up a human interest story as an organization and you are giving an example to other communities," he told members. Referring to designs and themes, the representative stressed incorporation of local ideas. "Our themes can be natural to our times, for there is a wealth of nature folk lore in Canada," he said.

The Canadian show will divide the exhibits into three main classifications, commercial exhibitors, commercial organizations who are sponsors, and non-commercial hobbyists. The show is grouped into four chief classifications, handicraft, model craft, hobbies and other activities such as folk dancing, native costume displays, choirs, etc.

Group applications for rental of space must be forwarded by Nov. 1, 1952, to 152 Bloor St. W., Toronto; individual applications by Dec. 1. Move-in time to the Coliseum is Feb. 2-5, 1953.

Following his address, Mr. Bonnie conducted a questionaire. While no decision was reached by Kingcrafts, it will be later discussed. The speaker was cordially welcomed by Lady Flavell as was Mr. Charles Tisdall, president of the show. Mrs. Geoffrey Beatty thanked Mr. Bonnie for his talk and Mrs. John Belknap extended appreciation to the president for her ed refreshments with Mrs. John hospitality. The weavers provided Grew and Mrs. W. H. Denton pouring tea.

Tossed Salads Favorites For Any Homemaker

"Sallett" is an old name for salad, a favorite dish hundreds of years ago. It is said that Roman emperors were served dressed lettuce on plates of gold, with radishes sliced so thin that the gold gleamed through. The French and Spanish borrowed the custom of mixing greens with oil and herbs from the early Greeks and Italians and they, in turn, brought salads to America. Today such salads are still favorites. Quite often they are tossed or mixed at the table.

There are two schools of thought in regard to the preparation of tossed salads. One claims only greens should be used, the other that practically any combination of vegetables is permissible. It is preferable that the vegetables should be raw, but cooked, canned or frozen ones may be combined with the fresh. Those who prefer only greens sometimes add onion or pepper rings and thin slices of radish or cucumber for extra flavor.

Greens are the basis of any tossed salad. Use only fresh, crisp greens kept cold, clean and dry. As soon as they are brought into the kitchen, remove the outside damaged leaves and store in a tightly covered vegetable crisper or plastic bag in the refrigerator or other cold place. Wash the greens as they are needed; be sure to dry them thoroughly. Wet greens dilute the dressing and give the salad a watery taste and soggy appearance.

Several types of greens can be combined for delicate flavor and color contrast. Lettuce, both head and leaf, is probably the most common green. The fresh peppery flavor of watercress lends character to any salad. Curly endive gives a different appearance and texture. Red, green or Chinese cabbage, spinach, Swiss chard, parsley, celery and nasturtium leaves are other greens that can go into the tossed salad bowl.

The rules for preparing salads are few and simple. They make all the difference in the world between a fresh, crisp salad and a soggy one. First, tear rather than cut the greens into medium sized pieces. A salad which has large, straggly lettuce leaves is most difficult to eat. Pieces that are too small lose their identity so it is best to choose a happy medium. Always combine a tossed salad lightly, using two forks to keep the greens fresh and crisp... never mix or stir them. Use only a small amount of dressing and serve the salad as soon as the dressing is added to keep it from getting soggy and wilted.

Add interest to tossed salads by using the right seasonings and accompaniments. From the French we get the idea of rubbing the bowl with garlic, although some prefer to add the garlic to the dressing. For those who do not like garlic, onion or onion juice can be used instead. Add other seasonings, like curry powder, cloves, nutmeg, horseradish, Tabasco or Worcestershire sauce to the dressing for extra flavor.

Rouquefort-type cheese or small pieces of bacon sprinkled over a tossed salad add that special something. Another trick is to add salad croutons. To make them, add two garlic cloves to one-quarter cup of oil and let stand two or three hours until the oil is well flavored. Then marinate tiny bread cubes about three-eighths of an inch in size in the oil and place them on a cookie sheet. Toast them for about five minutes under the broiler, turning frequently.

If the salad is to be an appetizer at the beginning of the meal, bread sticks, cheese fingers or tiny crackers are good to serve as accompaniments. So are thin crusty baking powder biscuits. When the salad is the main course, regular dinner rolls—the hard crusty kind—are delicious with it.

The types of bread that can be used with salads are limitless. Dainty sandwiches are also often combined with the main dish salad. The spread or filling should be tasty and should harmonize in flavor with the salad it accompanies. Assorted pickles, olives or potato chips are also good with the salad.

IT'S A Woman's World

By CAROLINE ION

With the organization of a new Home and School association in Sharon this week, the opening of the season in town of the local Home and School and tonight the holding of a workshop for Home and School executives in North York we are very aware of this organization.

The "Get-Acquainted" evening held by the Newmarket association last week was exceptionally well attended. Old members returned and many new ones were welcomed. In all there were over 150 present. That is certainly a good sized audience. But, it is a small percentage of the total number of parents with children attending the public schools.

In her opening remarks, the president, Mrs. Ray Holbrook, said, "In the beginning our motives are selfish; we are thinking only in terms of our own little Johnny or Jane. We are anxious for our own children to grow up to live happily with their neighbors as useful members of society. At Home and School we learn to think of it in a broader sense as applied to all children. Here we work and think together to teach our children good citizenship, sound moral values, stronger religious ties, a finer appreciation of the arts, good health habits and in so doing I think we make better parents and citizens of ourselves."

"Education does not mean teaching people to know what they do not know. It means teaching them to behave as they do not behave. It is this phase of education in which we as Home and School members are interested."

"I hope you will think of the Home and School association as yours and that you will play a very vital part in it. Like life, Home and School is only what you make it. When you speak of it, will you say, 'Our Home and School association' and not, 'The Home and School association' because you are the association."

"The importance of the general membership's contribution to the well being of the organization cannot be overemphasized. Unless we have your interest, the very existence of an executive is without point."

Those remarks can be carried one step further to say that without the interest of all the parents, the existence of the association is without point. When we realize that in a small community such as Sharon, they can obtain 35 charter members, the attendance at Newmarket's meeting last week was proportionately small.

It has been suggested that the formation of separate Home and School associations for each public school would be the answer. That appears to be the most logical solution for with approximately 1,400 parents eligible for membership under the present arrangement, the importance of each individual parent is minimized. Moreover, such a number is unwieldy. (Not that we can force having to find seating accommodation for over 1000 at a meeting.)

The first objection to four Home and School associations within the community is that parents would be called upon to attend more than one association. With children from the same family attending different schools, the parents would of necessity belong to Mary's group as well as Billy's.

With the return to neighborhood schools such a plan would be feasible. All children living in one area would attend one school. Parents of those youngsters would belong to its Home and School association. Here again there is one big drawback, increased school population. How to accommodate these children is a serious problem.

WILLIAMS-WHITE

A lovely wedding was solemnized in Nipigon United Church, Nipigon, when Donna Elaine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Williams, Nipigon, was united in marriage to John Herbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. White, Gormley, Saturday evening, Sept. 20, 7:30 o'clock. Rev. S. H. Scarle, B.A., B.D., Nipigon, officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was dressed in white nylon over satin with lace bodice, lace jacket and finger-tip veil. She carried red roses. Her attendant as bridesmaid, Miss Georgina Downey, Nipigon, was dressed in turquoise nylon over satin with lace bodice, lace jacket and suitable head-dress. She carried pink roses.

Mr. William Haines, Ottawa, acted as groomsmen. After their reception at the home of the bride's parents, the couple left for Port Arthur where a second reception was given by several members of the Ontario Provincial Police and their wives. The bride and groom flew from Port Arthur to Malton where they were met by the groom's parents and where they will spend their honeymoon while visiting other points east. They will live in Port Arthur.

Because of the small school yard at the King George school, it was planned to make that building a junior school. Sending the older children on the west side of town to Stuart Scott gives them more play area, an important factor in their proper development.

The circle continues and no perfect solution seems to appear. Perhaps the formation of four associations should be held until school space and numbers of pupils become more compatible. Perhaps, only in the increased interest of more parents in the present Home and School association lies the immediate answer.

If your youngster is in school you should be interested in the Home and School association. Your co-operation and support are needed. The executive will welcome your suggestions.

Night School
Are you among the number who registered for night school classes last spring? Organization meeting of all interested in such adult education is being called. Now is the time to get the classes operating for the winter months.

AFTERNOON TEA RAISED FUNDS FOR HOSP. AUX.

The home of Mrs. J. Gordon Cock was the scene of a delightful afternoon tea on Wednesday, Sept. 24, when $135 was raised by York County Hospital Women's Auxiliary. The affair drew a representative attendance from communities throughout the northern section of the county. Mrs. John Dales was general convener.

Receiving with Mrs. Cock were the superintendent of the hospital, Miss L. Thomas, and the president of the auxiliary, Mrs. R. Rogers, Sharon. Mrs. W. M. Cockburn convened the sale of home baking and Mrs. Douglas Brown was in charge of the dining room.

The living room was decorated with gladioli. The dining room table which was covered with an embroidered cloth was centered with small yellow mums and blue cornflowers, flanked with lighted yellow tapers in silver candelabra. Pouring were Mrs. Archie Cousins, Aurora, Mrs. Ivan Spetch, King, Mrs. H. J. Kurtz, Mount Albert, and Mrs. Charles Evans, Bradford.

ELECTED PRESIDENT OF SHARON HOME AND SCHOOL

Mrs. W. R. Osler was elected president of the newly organized Sharon Home and School association on Monday, Sept. 29, when the Sharon public school was filled to capacity for the charter meeting. The association has 35 charter members.

Mrs. H. E. LeMasurier, Lang-staff, president of York-Simcoe Home and School council installed the officers and spoke on the aims and objects of Home and School. Mrs. C. R. Blackstock, North area vice president for council spoke briefly on York-Simcoe council.

Those elected to office include: president, Mrs. Osler, vice presidents, Mr. K. Stokes, Mrs. W. Boyd; recording Sec., Mrs. C. Ward; Corresponding Sec., Mrs. D. Gill; Treasurer, Mrs. A. Case; teacher, Mrs. W. Proctor; executive committee, Mrs. F. Ramsey, Mrs. K. Shaw, Mrs. M. Murray, Mr. H. Houston and Mr. W. R. Osler.

The Sharon Home and School association will meet the last Monday of each month. Meeting will be held in the school and are open to the public.

LEGION LADIES AUX. HOLD ZONE RALLY

The Newmarket branch, Ladies auxiliary Canadian Legion was hostess to Zone 22 at a rally in the Newmarket Legion Hall on Thursday Sept. 18. Over 80 were present from Willowdale, King, Woodbridge, Aurora, Richmond Hill and Sutton.

Mrs. Paul Tobey, president of the Newmarket branch opened the meeting and extended a welcome to the visitors. Mrs. Pegg, Toronto, presided. Reports were given from each auxiliary of its year's activities.

In the absence of Mrs. Duffield, Aurora, Zone representative, her report was presented by her daughter, Mrs. Audrey Nelson. Mrs. Pegg congratulated the auxiliaries on their past work and the gathering was addressed briefly by Mrs. Greenaway, Toronto. Refreshments were served by the Newmarket auxiliary members and a pleasant social half-hour was spent.

The Common Round...

By Isabel Inglis Colville

PETERBOROUGH WITH THE W.I.

Tuesday morning last at eight o'clock I stood at our gate and watched Mr. Hunt's big old brown and white goat etched against the skyline as he kept watch over the cows. The clouds were hurrying over a very blue sky as if they had an appointment to gather some place and drop their burden of rain. We found out that the rendezvous was Peterborough, for such a downpour as we had for awhile, but it did nothing to dampen the spirits of the 39 women who were the guests of the city.

Leaving home at 8 a.m. in a comfortable bus ably operated by Mr. Cooper, Aurora, we set out for a day, planned in minute detail by Mrs. E. Campbell and Mrs. Albert Ridley.

What a choice piece of Canada is this Ontario of ours, the pretty villages that cluster along the highway with their tree shaded lawns and wonderful gardens; here is a neat school house and there a spire points heavenward telling of the eternal reach in man after God. Community halls and arenas are more plentiful than they used to be, speaking of the increasing need for recreation in a chaotic world. And under the blue Canadian sky are the fields of green and gold, the lakes and hills, and everywhere building, houses, schools and factories.

At one stop we made we saw the biggest dog, a boxer, and the most unique house I've ever seen. We saw the dog lying on the porch of the house and Elsie McClure said to me "I wouldn't like to meet that dog at close quarters". I told her to look behind her and there it was! It was a mammoth creature and as friendly as a kitten.

The house was made apparently, of round, bright colored, highly glazed articles, some said bottle tops, but Mrs. Campbell said "No, logs with painted ends" and then I presume the whole was glazed to give it the glass effect.

We were met in Peterborough by Mr. Kingston of the Chamber of Commerce and taken at once to the Quaker Oats Factory. This was an education in what machinery can do. To watch the processes and to see what lies between the raw cereal and the finished product. It looks like all sorts of things except what it is, as it flows, skips and flies until it rests in its containers.

I was fascinated by a long black surface, perforated and obviously boiling hot spread along there were muffets and muffets. Over they flipped until they changed color, when they skipped into a long tunnel and off they went up hill and down to be flipped into containers, then into cartons and the cartons so neatly covered and sent on their way.

We saw the most delectable looking cakes being whisked out of the ovens; these were to test certain flours, I think and they are given to the employees. We were each given a package of muffets.

By this time we were becoming a bit weak, for breakfast for all of us had been early, so we drove to the filtration plant park and here we were welcomed by a large striped cat, who shared our food and escorted us benignly here and there. Large drops of rain and a north wind sent us scurrying to the bus where some of us rested while others went through the filtration plant.

Our tour of the city gave us a glimpse of its beauty and its place in the sun. All I had known of Peterborough was that fine canoes came from there and I used to enjoy paddling about in the moonlight on the Rideau and St. Lawrence Rivers years ago.

Now we saw its fine churches and wished we could have seen Rev. and Mrs. Henry Cotton but time was short. The schools we saw were fine, and as in nearly every community additions were being built, telling their tale of a growing population and the necessity of satisfying its mental needs.

Industries flourished, banks abounded, also fine hotels and lovely homes. We sat beside the Trent Canal and looked at the lift lock. Some of the more adventurous members of our party climbed up the tower, but as my only reaction to the heights is a mad wish to cast myself down, I prudently stayed put. Mrs. Campbell made an admirable guide, explaining the mysteries of the lock and then we were off again, this time to the civic hospital.

There is another hospital, St. Joseph's, but time was in the essence of the contract, so we were content with one. It is the last word in hospitals. In the rotunda there is a wonderful stained glass window portraying the good Samaritan, an appropriate and beautiful reminder of what a hospital stands for.

Everything was perfect of its kind and the nurse's residence was a joy to behold. Their living room, furnished by a friend of the hospital was very beautiful; one does not often see such perfection and the huge picture window showed a breath-taking view of the surrounding country.

Following this, while some of our members did a little shopping and we lazy ones sat on the bus, a torrential rain battered the coats, but not the spirits of the shoppers.

We made a dash for the woollen mill, which was indeed a wonderful place. The processes through which the wool goes were as amazing as they were mystifying. To watch the girls at those huge machines, to see their skill as they snatched threads from here and there and then to see why they did this, was to see a pattern emerge out of chaos. The different sized spools and spindles, the varying and delightful colors, the great vats of boiling water through which the wool was whisked, the drying processes, all these made us appreciate what comes before we see the finished process. Men in rubber boots stood taking out the wool, others were twisting it dry and hanging it in skeins.

Our next stop, was a welcome one, at Foster's restaurant, where Mrs. Campbell's forethought had made sure that tables would be reserved. We had an excellent dinner. In a fit of absent mindedness I ate Mrs. Alvin Ridley's dinner, but as she got one eventually, I could only say, as I've said before, all's well that ends well! Of course I will admit it's easy to be philosophic about someone else's trouble, but we, even Mrs. Ridley, enjoyed breaded pork tenderloin, french fried potatoes, salad, rolls and delicious coffee followed by pineapple sundae.

Being now in a state of depletion and viewing the world from that standpoint we were ready to go to the library and see pictures of the Kawartha Lakes.

As I want to write at some length of them I'll leave them till next week and add "Recital" to them.

Waterworks
An outlay of $131.08 will be required this year to meet insurance premiums on King City waterworks, the watertank, contents of the pump house, hydrants and the village trailer and equipment. Estimates of rates submitted by an auditor to village trustees have been approved. Three groups covering a three year period have a premium of $128.08 and the one-year group has $33. The policies cover fire, theft, malicious damage, windstorm, public liability and property damage caused by any part of the waterworks system. Trustees agreed to have the township of King endorse its policy to cover protection for village firemen.

When the amount of the cost of westerly watermain extensions were presented to village trustees by the contractor, they decided that he be asked for an itemized account and the approval of the engineer be attached.

Improve School Entrance

Dr. H. J. Barrie, chairman of S. S. 2, trustee board, requested village trustees to correct the main entrance to King City school, because the township council had removed a previous conduit between the roadway and the sidewalk. The commissioners approved a resolution that the township authorities be requested to place a conduit and fill without charge to the village or S. S. 2, on the basis of Dr. Barrie's offer to provide gravel from his farm pit free of charge. Dr. Barrie said the removal of the culvert had left a dangerous depression.

Trustees Irked

Annoyed to the point of exasperation, by what was termed "poor management" on the part of King township council, King City village trustees are protesting against two unprotected building excavations on the south side of Dew street. The cellars have no cement footings, are filled with 16 feet of water and heavy clay and are a constant source of worry to mothers who fear the worst when their children are out of sight. Six children live nearby.

In spite of repeated appeals to township authorities, nothing has been done to correct the situation, chairman Crawford Wells stated. "I think it shows very poor management on the part of council and the reeve. We have begged them time after time to look after the matter." He said this has been going on for nearly three years. Two of the mothers have approached council personally, and all three have several times asked the trustees for help.

Trustees says they have no authority themselves to take steps to fill in the cellars and apparently persuasion has failed with the owners. They do not hold the building inspector responsible.

Speeders Summoned

Ten motorists are receiving summonses for exceeding the 30 M.P.H. speed limit within the village of King City. Their rates of speed were clocked on a given day last week between the hours of 6 to 7.30 p.m. by King township constables, Arthur Moody and Bill Davis, who operated the speed trap. The penalty is $1 per mile over the village speed limit plus costs.

"The take was enough for a village," said Constable Moody, "despite the adequate number of warning signs." The operation of the speed trap will be a very frequent occurrence, the township council states. "We intend to stay with it until speeders decide it is time to quit trying to outdo the traffic laws," Constable Davis said.

The worst offenders are found at Nobleton on provincial highway No. 27. There the rate is anywhere from 50 to 60 miles an hour.

Wild Raspberries

Mr. Wm. Kerr, Kleinburg, picked a half cup of wild raspberries which he found in a fence row on his farm on Sept. 24.

Fractured Elbow

Albert Follitt, Temperanceville, last week suffered a broken elbow while helping his son remove the screening from a deep well on his farm. A long pole being used to pry up the screen, was dislodged by a chain in the well, causing it to spring in his right arm into a position where he could not free it from the pressure of the pole. Mr. Follitt will be unable to use his arm for some time.

Collect Auction Goods

For their first fund-raising venture, King City Lions will collect all donations of produce, apples, vegetables and other saleable articles prior to their big auction sale on Tuesday, Oct. 7, at 7 p.m., in King Memorial Park, when W. D. Atkinson, Stouffville, will be auctioneer. There will be lucky draws for turkeys and a refreshment booth. Proceeds will be used for Lions' community activities. King City and surrounding district is requested to assist generously. Jack Walkington will be sale clerk. J. C. Dew is president and the committee is headed by M. A. Wilson, with George Harvey, Wm. Jennings, A. J. Gordon and B. J. Langdon.

Mail Service
Ernie Cunnins, mail carrier of rural route No. 2, has contracted to truck first-class mail and newspapers to King post office which arrives at Oak Ridge, Yonge St., by truck from Toronto postal office at 7 a.m., and commenced on Wednesday, Oct. 1. The mail is ready for distribution at the local office by 8.30. As a faster service, there is some advantage to the post office staff and couriers. Other mail and parcels come to King by C.N.R. Express and on regular morning and evening trains.

Temporary changes are also being established to collect the mail for C.N.R. express. Mr. Bob O'Reilly will handle the mail bags for Frank Gambrell who retired from this service on Sept. 29, although Mr. Gambrell is carrying on until Saturday. Mr. O'Reilly is also taking deliveries on rural route 3, to replace Mr. Gambrell who has consented to help in the distribution work in the post office for a while.

Mr. O'Reilly is also operating his own route, R. R. 1.

Projector at School

King City public school board has purchased a strip projector for use in the school, at a cost of $100, 50 percent of which will be reimbursed by a grant on equipment from the department of education. The purpose of the investment is to facilitate the teachers in presenting subject matter to the pupils in the more impressive form of pictures as they move along. The by a script to describe the pictures as they move along. The board hopes this move is a prelude to a movie projector, said Dr. J. H. Barrie, board chairman, who is donating a film dealing with China.

Public Speaking

The preliminary public speaking contest for pupils of grades 7 and 8 of King township public schools is scheduled for Oct. 15, at Kettleby United church hall. If, on Oct. 3 when the names of the contestants are forwarded to Mr. Wallace Bennett of New Scotland school, president of the teachers' association, it is found there are too many for one contest, two semi-finals will be held. Each school is limited to two contestants.

The winners of inspectorate 9 will compete against those of inspectorate 1, at Aurora. Winning orators will then contest in the York County competition at the county chambers, Toronto, when the county council is in session. Afterwards a larger area competition will be conducted, followed by the provincial competition at the Ontario Education Association convention. Impromptu speeches will be conducted on each occasion when the orators are given a choice of one of three subjects, with time allotted to give thought to the subject.

For the King township contest, teachers are asked to submit impromptu subjects and a donation of $2 from each school board for the prizes.

St. Andrew's 115th Anniversary
Mrs. Port and her sister, Mrs. James McCallum, have been associated with St. Andrew's Presbyterian church at Strathroy for more than 60 years, in fact since they were small children in the home of their father, the late James Ross. They will be among those to attend the 115th anniversary services on Sunday, Oct. 6, when Mr. Calvin Chambers of Toronto will be the guest preacher. King United choir will sing at the morning service and special music will be provided at the evening service at 7.30 by Mr. Floyd Davis of Willowdale. Everyone has a cordial invitation to join the congregation on that day.

A large representation from King township attended the official opening of Aurora district high school last Friday evening when Reeve Elton Armstrong was one of the platform guests. Mrs. Armstrong was also present in the auditorium guest section, as were Councillors Raymond Jennings and his wife, Councillor Russell Snider and Mrs. Snider, Harold G. Rose, the township clerk, and his wife.

At the home of Mrs. M. R. Jenkinson last Friday afternoon, Mrs. Campbell McKay, Maple, was presented with delphinium blue bathroom accessories for her new home there, where she and Dr. McKay and the children, Clayton and David, moved the previous day. The farewell token was the gift of her King City neighbors and the presentation was made by Mrs. Gordon Tetley.

Mrs. Jenkinson and Mrs. Jack Thompson received the guests. Mrs. Tetley and Mrs. Irving Scott served the refreshments for a very enjoyable afternoon.

Mrs. Lawrence Doucette and her daughter, Mrs. Ila Galoway, Sarnia, were at the home of Mrs. Doucette's nephew, Mr. Irving Scott, for a few days last week.

In addition there will be a 15 minute talk and demonstration on interior decorating and a lucky prize of a bibb will be given away.

Loaf of Bread

The loaf of bread, which represents the "staff of life" at the Harvest Thanksgiving services at All Saints' Anglican church every year, has been made by the Hatley family since 1914. Mrs. James Hatley, the mother, baked the bread for eight years and after her death in 1922, her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Geo. Hatley, has continued. The loaf she made for last Sunday's service was made in a 8 by 12 inch pan and had a golden brown color, matching the gold-brown of the wheat heads in the decorated cross made by her husband.

Dear Eat Bread

Anna Dew accomplished her ambition when she fed deer in Algonquin park. They ate bread from her hand as she sat in the car. Her father, John C. Dew, was driving when he and his wife, son John and Anna motored to Des Joachims, Quebec, to spend the weekend with Mrs. William Sinclair, and her husband.

Impressive Services

Impressive services were held at All Saints' Anglican church last Sunday in celebration of the Thanksgiving season which was emphasized by Archdeacon of Simcoe, the Venerable A. G. Emmet, under whom the rector, Rev. Mr. Michell, has previously served as curate.

The Archdeacon stressed that "God is the last to receive our gratitude and thanks." The choir, under the direction of Don Rawlings, sang the anthem, "To God the Mighty Lord".

At the evening service Rev. Dr. Abbott, Schomberg, was the preacher. The decorations of All Saints' church for this special Sunday were very beautiful, with rich colorings of autumn flowers and vegetables, grapes and apples, making a suitable tribute. In the chancel altar were six bouquets of pastel pink gladioli and pure white Easter lilies, the gifts of Stanley Watson, in whose garden the lilies are flourishing. The large cross suspended from the ceiling was formed of wheat heads and the rich red of the mountain ash berry. Sheaves of wheat, groupings of vegetables, baskets of lovely autumn flowers, grapes and apples, formed one of the loveliest scenes we have seen. Barley sprays marked the pews.

Sumac Camp Treat for Cubs
On the weekend of Sept. 13 and 14, First King Cub Pack with cubmaster Mrs. W. F. Hood, assistant Jack Hamby, and Miss Ruth Rodford, of Toronto, a friend of Mrs. Hood, enjoyed a splendid time at Camp Sumac, the Boy Scout camp near Oshawa. Johnny Walker, Jun Langdon, Ron Archibald, Don Gordon, Richard Chaplin, Billie Cairns, Rickie Balknap, Charles Shields, Larry Monkman and John Rischborough were motorized to the camp by Mrs. Hood and Mr. Hamby.

Early in October, regular meetings will start. The cubmaster will require more assistance and permanent helpers are needed immediately.

Legion Auxiliary Report
The Ladies' Auxiliary of King Legion branch had a very satisfactory financial report to present to the zone rally at Newmarket on Sept. 18. The sum of $208 was raised for the building fund from bingo. The fund will be enlarged and will be used for the Legion club room fittings. There are also sufficient bingo prizes on hand to carry for most of the coming season. In the general fund there is $101, raised from the summer carnival and membership fees, and monthly draws at regular meetings. Expenditures have been $10 to the K. C. A. operating fund; fruit baskets and flowers to sick members; a gift of a spoon and fork to each new baby born to auxiliary mothers. Mrs. Arthur Fleet, president, and the executive are highly appreciative of the response given by the community and outside districts during the past year.

Eastern Star Euchre

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Ivan Specht, Mrs. I. L. Scott, Mrs. Len Shropshire and Mrs. Grant McCachen, a group representing the Aloha chapter of the Eastern Star arranged a euchre at Ridge Inn. Mrs. T. L. Williams won a basket of peaches and Wilbert Jennings a basket of grapes. Mr. and Mrs. Len Shropshire had the nearest wedding anniversary, Sept. 30. Afterwards refreshments were served.

Mrs. A. J. Gordon and Mrs. Williams, members of the Queen City Chapter, Eastern Star Order, attended a luncheon at the Walker House, Toronto, on Sept. 17, in connection with the Grand Chapter meeting in convention in the city.

Dr. Campbell McKay and family expect to move to their new home, near Maple, which is provided for the doctor as veterinarian of Maple Cattle Breeders' Assoc. The house they have occupied will be taken over by Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Tetley and two sons, who have been living in the Anglican rectory.

W.A. Life Membership

Mrs. Raymond Burt was created a life member of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Church of England in Canada by All Saints' W. A. of which she is the president. In an impressive ceremony performed by Mrs. S. C. Snively, second vice-president of the Toronto diocese, Mrs. Burt received the beautiful gold and blue scroll, and also the Roman gold pin bearing the Biblical passage, "The love of Christ constraineth us".

The life membership certificate was a gift from Mrs. Burt's family on her 40th wedding anniversary in "loving appreciation of 30 years' faithful service as a W.A. member".

The presentations were made at the regular meeting of the W. A. at which Mrs. Burt was presiding at the home of Mrs. Harry Cunningham, on Sept. 18. She was completely taken by surprise when Mrs. Snively appeared and announced the ceremony.

Present to see the ceremonial presentation were Mr. Burt, Mrs. Richard Canney, her daughter, and her two children, Mr. Torrence Burt of Toronto, her son, and his wife were unable to witness the scene. Rev. D. C. H. Michell spoke on behalf of the branch.

When Mrs. Burt first became associated with the work of the Woman's Auxiliary, she became a member of St. Cuthbert's branch, Leaside, from 1922-38. During that time she was treasurer for six years and president for one year. She then became the charter treasurer of St. Timothy's auxiliary, Toronto, for the next five years. Later when the Burt moved to King City she entered the auxiliary here, and has been representative to the diocesan board for the past seven years. She was vice-president for two years and is in her second year as president of the organization. Miss Marjorie Jarvis and Mrs. G. D. Lockhart are also life members.

When The Corn Is Ripe

A sure sign of the approaching fall season are corn and wheat stacks, and there are plenty of them. King legion and the ladies' auxiliary held a "roast" on August 15, in A. E. Campbell's garden. Mrs. Art Fleet, auxiliary president, and Mrs. Campbell, the secretary, built a fireplace from cement blocks. Covered with a grate it made an excellent cook stove. There were 31 adults and 12 children on hand for the fun and singings.

On Friday night, Aug. 22, a bon fire could be seen in Harvey Follitt's field where a family group, friends and neighbors enjoyed a couple hours of fun. They had arranged a long table lit by an old coal-oil lamp, and boiled

Kingcrafts Group Re-Elects Executive For Coming Year

The proposal of the nominating committee, headed by Mrs. Jas. Baxter, to retain the present executive of Kingcrafts for the coming year, was unanimously adopted by the membership, with expressions of appreciation by Mrs. Baxter for the excellence of their leadership. Lady Flavell is the president; Mrs. John Grew, first vice-pres.; Mrs. Geoffrey Beatty, second vice-pres.; Mrs. E. B. Johnston, sec.; Mrs. H. Bryan, treas.; and Mrs. C. F. Johnston, corr. sec. Conveners will be appointed later.

Kingcrafts will invest $1,000 of its sale fund in a short term bond, with a view to later establishing a kiln for pottery craft. Apart from the sale intake, each crafter who sold her work received 100 percent on her sales.

The annual meeting will be held on Oct. 22 at Mrs. W. H. Denton's, 3rd line. Associate members will be notified by card of this special meeting. Annual reports must be in the hands of secretary by Oct. 10.

Applications for working funds, up to $25, per craft group, must be forwarded to the treasurer immediately. The work sale in June also helps to provide this advantage.

On Nov. 20, at the regular monthly meeting at Mrs. Beatty's, Yonge St., a sale of handicrafts among members will be held, all articles to be handed in by Nov. 15.

Reports of group conveners looked excellent at the start of the fall season. The weavers will have Mrs. Mathew Heron, Downsview, as their teacher. The leather group will have Mrs. Beth Anderson as teacher, while the experienced members of the group will teach the teen-crafters. Gratitude was extended to those who gave leather instruction last term, Mrs. Wm. Poag, Mrs. Ivan Specht and Miss Ella Whitmore. The ruggers are at work, thrilled with the special wool they will use on their special rug project. The wool must be washed and dyed before using. The smokers are organized both at King and Lakely.

Sympathy was expressed for Mrs. Charles Johnston and family, bereaved in the tragic death of her son, Geoffrey. Mention was made for the return to health of Mrs. J. T. Phair who is in hospital.

Mrs. N. J. Coe was welcomed as a new active member of Kingcrafts and the names of several others were sponsored with regard to active or associate membership. Mrs. H. Gilday, a new resident of con. 7, was a welcome visitor of Kingcrafts.
